"The Soldier may forget his sword,
The Sailorman the sea,
The Mason may forget the Word
And the Priest his Litany;
The Maid may forget both jewel and gem,
And the Bride her wedding
dress—
But the Jew shall forget Jerusalem
Ere we forget the Press!"

Now that Charlie Ross is found,
if we could ascertain the age of Ann and find out who bit Billy Patterson
we could concentrate on the only remaining baffling mystery, the Nata slump.

The League of Nations is so busy with theoretical disarmament
that it hasn't time to stop a little thing
like a war in Poland.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge
listen to a stirring sermon; Traffic Regulations, XIV. 4. What's become of the old-fashioned pastor who used to take his text from the Bible?

Judging by the latest statistics married men can't die nearly as cheaply as the bachelors.

And here's Senator Bill Borah, going to help elect a pro-league
member of Wilson's Cabinet Senator from Pennsylvania over the Republican nominee. Very, prohibition makes strange bed-fellows than rum used to make.

Mr. Wheeler's formal announcement that not to insist upon more prohibition legislation would be like surrendering to the wets "before spitting on your hands," must be taken humorously, as the dry
are already in the position of the schoolboy with the blower, who eventually reached the point where he couldn't make any more spitballs.

Atlee Pomerene, who was once beaten in Ohio by a dry, announces that he is now sufficiently convalescent to take another licking.

It is understood that the Fenning case will be closed today unless somebody rides down to the Capitol
in a street car and tells the Judiciary committee what to do.

Advocates of the prohibition referendum in New York are suddenly remembering about the nonconformity of the constitutional amendments extending the rights of citizenship to the disfranchised negroes
of the wet-drinking dry-voting South. This June frost isn't anything to the chill that is going to hit Dixie one of these days.

"What is so raw as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect joys,
Their chattering teeth playing a tune,
Till over them some one a fur coat lays."

Old Glory and the Stars and Bars, fluttering side by side, bide breeze
from the same Heaven entwining their folds together! That must have been a bitter sight in Arlington yesterday for those who think that the Wars of the Roses are still going on.

"Under the sod and the dew, Waiting the Judgment Day;
Love and tears for the Blige,
Tears and love for the Gray."

"I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier" was a pre-war policy of the pacifists that filled thousands of American graves in far-away France,
and now the Federal Council of Churches launches a drive against that military training in the schools and colleges, designed to save the manhood of the next generation from the sacrifice to unpreparedness laid on the altar of patriotism by the present generation.
Ours is becoming a government of organized minorities of the propa-gandists, for the propagandists, and by the propagandists.

Nicholas Murray Butler undertakes to combat one kind of propaganda with another. Ay, there's the rub!

In the old days Sam Ward—dethroned "King of the Lobbyists"—bluffed a Senator like a gentleman in a good old-fashioned poker game in his palatial quarters in the quiet little street back of Polo's theater, now given over to dingy shops and garages. If he had lived today he would have bluffed him by threatening to sack an organized propaganda
on him. There's more than one way of playing a busted flush.

A former blacksmith having become the premier of Sweden we shall expect to hear from another European capital the customary anvil chorus.

We gather from the Crown Prince's fulsome praise of America
that if it were not for Sweden it would be mentioned.

UKRAINIANS BATTLE WITH POLISH FORCE IN EASTERN GALICIA

Tarnopol Scene of Hard Fight When Troops Clear Streets.

SEVERAL ARE KILLED; MORE THAN 50 HURT

Lemberg Jail Stormed by Mob Demanding Independence for the Territory.

Danzig, June 6 (By A. P.).—
The city and province of Tarnopol
in eastern Galicia have been declared under a state of siege, and Lemberg and Tarnopol under a state of emergency, owing to serious disturbances which have broken out there.

The most sanguinary encounter
took place between Ukrainian demonstrators and three companies of troops in Tarnopol, when an attempt was made to clear the streets in the course of the independence movement which demanded the convocation of a nationalist assembly for east Galicia.

Several persons were killed and more than 50 wounded. The police arrested 105 students.

Lemberg Prison Stormed.

Other Ukrainian demonstrations are reported from Tarnopol, Jaroslav and Lemberg. At Lemberg more than 1,000 Ukrainians attempted to storm the central prison, vociferously demanding the release of all political prisoners. In this city and in Tarnopol 78 communists were arrested.

All the newspapers of east
Galicia are under severe censorship.
This movement and the refusal of the peasants to pay taxes are attributed to communist propaganda.
The action of the Polish government in employing troops is a counter measure against the independence movement in East Galicia
by the Ukrainians, who refuse to acknowledge allegiance to Poland and demand autonomy for East Galicia.

Posen Opposes Changes.

Posen, Poland, June 6 (By A.
P.).—The governor's committee for state defense is taking a determined stand against the possible reorganization of West Poland by the Warsaw government, and has adopted the following resolution:

"The presidential election has concluded the first epoch of a dangerous upheaval caused by the revolutionary events in Warsaw.
The immediate future will show if the government is able to cope with the results of coup d'etat. We have determined that dangerous revolutionary elements exist and will prove an increasing menace to our borders.
In consideration of the fact that the peaceful conditions are mainly due to the civil and military authorities, we demand that these be not disorganized by changes in the personnel.

Will Keep Military.

"We will prevent any reduction of the military forces in the western provinces and also combat all measures pending to undermine the economic status of the western population, and deem it absolutely essential that the leaders and members of all organizations intended for the protection of public order shall continue unwaveringly at their posts, despite the most difficult national conflicts, in the higher interests of the fatherland."

Platinum Discovery Causes Excitement

Coalmont, B. C., June 6 (By A.
P.).—Excitement reigned here today following the discovery of platinum in this district. Garnet Foot-heran, young prospector, yesterday appeared at a bank with 18 ounces of crude platinum, which he extracted from gravel on a nearby abandoned placer claim. He worked the claim an hour and a half. Coalmont is in South British Columbia, 35 miles southeast of Vancouver.

Two Sisters Killed At Grade Crossing

Bloomington, Ind., June 6 (By A.
P.).—Two sisters were killed and three other persons received serious injuries when a Pennsylvania railroad train struck their automobile
at a crossing in Gosport, near here, today. The dead are Mrs. Marvin Dyre, 23, of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Ella Parsons, 25, of Herrin, Ill.
A third sister, Miss Violet Parsons, of Herrin, Ill., had not regained consciousness tonight. Marvin Dyre, 24, and Thals Dyre, 1, year old, husband and daughter, respectively, of Mrs. Dyre, also received serious injuries.

Married Men Do Live Longer, Records Show

Chicago, June 6 (By A. P.).—
The wag who asked "why do married men live longer than single ones?" and then answered
"they don't, it only seems longer," was wrong. They do.
Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, city health commissioner, today made public records of the health department for 1925 showing that for each age period, married men have lower death rates than single, widowed or divorced men.
Of every 1,000 men from 25
to 34, those who die include 15 who are divorced, 5 who are single and only 4 who are married. From 35 to 44 years, 18 divorced men, 14 single ones and only 7 married ones die. Between the ages of 55 and 64, 56 divorced men, 49 bachelors and only 29 married men die. Above 65, the ratio is even more favorable to the espoused couple.

POMERENE IN CONTEST FOR OHIO SENATORSHIP

F. F. Gentsch Withdraws on Receiving Announcement of Candidacy.

TWO REMAIN IN FIGHT

Cleveland, Ohio, June 6 (By A.
P.).—Atlee Pomerene, senator from Ohio for twelve years preceding 1923, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator here tonight.
In a statement he declared he would make little, if any, campaign in the primaries, his work as special counsel for the Federal government in the naval petroleum reserves cases, coming first.

In announcing his candidacy, he cleared up a somewhat chaotic condition in Democratic politics, both in this county and the State. Great pressure to enter the race had been brought to bear on him for several weeks.

Simultaneously with the Pome-rene announcement, Frank F.
Gentsch, Cleveland attorney, who was planning to run as a wet candidate, withdrew from the race
after paying high tribute to Pome-rene as a statesman.

Supreme Court Judge Florence
E. Allen, of Cleveland, another candidate, tonight stated that he would not withdraw, regardless of who might run. State Commerce Director Cyrus W. Locher, of Cleveland, also a senatorial candidate, declined to comment on the Pome-rene statement.

Pomerene's candidacy will be filed in Columbus within a few days.

American to Die As French Deserter

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Cairo, June 6.—Gilbert Clare, of Memphis, the only American of the French Foreign legion in Syria, and called by Maj. Kratzert one of the heroes of the Sueda attack, who deserted with several others toward the Palestine frontier, has been caught, court-martialled and condemned to death.

According to a French journalist,
who arrived from Sueda today,
Clare will be shot in two days. According to Gen. Andrea, Gilbert Clare was the ring leader of the desertion from the legion, taking three Germans, one Russian and two other men with him. They fired on troops the French sent for them, it is asserted.

MEYER LONDON DEAD; STRUCK BY AN AUTO

Former Socialist Representa- tive Victim of Accident in New York City.

New York, June 6 (By A. P.).—
Meyer London, former Socialist representative in Congress from New York, died tonight in Bellevue hospital of injuries received today
when he was struck by an automobile.

Born in Russia, December 29, 1871, Mr. London came to the United States at the age of 20 and was admitted to the New York bar seven years later. He was in Congress from 1915 to 1919 and from 1921
to 1923, and was active in the Socialist and labor movements.
The Socialist and labor leader was the first Socialist to be sent to Congress by an Eastern State. He first attracted public attention in 1910 when as legal advisor to the clockmakers' union he led their strike to a victorious ending.

He was elected to Congress on an antiwar and Socialist platform in 1914 after two previous attempts had led only to defeat.

HOUSE COMMITTEE EXPECTED TO CLOSE FENNING CASE TODAY

Commissioner to Face a Cross-Examination by Rankin.

PRESIDENT WILL GET HEARINGS' TRANSCRIPT

Recommendations to Depend on Testimony Bearing on Two Legal Phases.

With his case before the House judiciary subcommittee expected to close today, became manifest yesterday that Commissioner Fen-ning's worst ordeal is yet to come in the House.

It is a foregone conclusion that the committee is not going to recommend impeachment and there are increasing indications that it will content itself with submitting the transcript of testimony to the President.

The judiciary committee is in a peculiar position and some of its members are fretting because of it.
The attitude of the majority of its members is that it is this committee's duty to look at the case from a dispassionate legal view, and in that light there is the belief that the prosecution has fallen far short of proving "high crimes and misdemeanors in office." In the first place the commissioner has only been in office a year and nearly all of the charges against him relate to practices that went on before.

Two Phases Considered.

From the strict legal standpoint,
there are only two phases before the committee. The one relating to the commissioner's prosecution of a claim before government department officials and the other rests upon the commissioner's self-bonding practice. Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, is to seek to impress the committee with this phase in his cross-examination of the commissioner today.

Regarding the broad charges of "exploiting world war veterans" and "commercialization of veterans" which have been hurled freely in the House—but which do not in so many words make up the list of counts which Representative Blanton, of Texas, gave the judiciary committee, it is the legal mind that there is no statutory provision to fit them.

And whether the committee will see fit to make comment on them will measure the size of the battle to come in the House.

Opinion Against Practice.

There is plenty of opinion on the judiciary committee against the commissioner's guardianship practice and his ex parte lunacy practice, but there is hardly a man on the committee in the mood to make it.

30 Bullets Kill Man Hiding in a Swamp

Special to The Washington Post.
Pontiac, Mich., June 6.—Justice dealt swiftly with Paul Siko today and as a result he is dead with 30 bullet wounds in his body.

Mrs. John P. Clark, 26 years old, is in Pontiac City hospital, recovering from bullet wounds suffered at Siko's hands when she refused his attentions.

Siko was killed by a posse under Sheriff Frank Schram and Chief Deputy S. D. Adams, after he had taken refuge in a swamp near the scene of his attack upon Mrs. Clark.
When found he was buried to the hips in mire with an emptied pistol
in his hand.

Captured Rum Boat Burns Mysteriously

Youngstown, N. Y., June 6 (By A. P.).—The suggestion that rum runners are equipping their boats with an automatic device designed to destroy it if captured was advanced today by prohibition agents
as a result of the burning of the launch Spray.

Captured while discharging a cargo of illicit liquors, according to members of the raiding party, the boat was being brought into port when flames suddenly burst from the hold. The prize crew, George H. Cochran, president of this village, who is also a deputy sheriff, and Capt. George Ferguson, in charge of the lighthouse at Fort Niagara, barely escaped with their lives.

Noiseless Plane Secret Is Guarded by French

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, June 6.—French military aviation authorities are guarding with the closest secrecy
the new invention of a silent airplane propeller enabling noiseless night bombing raids. If this proves successful, anti-aircraft artillery will be unable to find a target at the tremendous heights raiding machines fly, which is far above the reach of the most powerful searchlights.

Heretofore, anti-aircraft fire was directed by microphones detecting the sound of the propeller and actuating the range finders and directors.
The new air screw is metal made from a solid forging. Its silence is believed to be due to the absence of tip flukes and the keen leading edges of the propeller blades whose knife-like sharpness enables them to cut the air with the least possible disturbance. With the propeller's whirl silenced, the manufacturers can muffle the motors.

HEYWARD CUTTING HITS TREE WITH CAR; KILLED

Prominent New Yorker Was on Way From Reception for Swedish Prince.

WIFE IS NOW ABROAD

Glen Cove, N. Y., June 6 (By A.
P.).—Heyward Cutting, member of a prominent New York family, died today of a fractured skull received when his automobile struck a tree
as he was returning early this morning from the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Baker, Jr., at Locust Valley, Long Island, in honor of the Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden. Mr. Cut-ting's companions, H. Nelson Slater and Austen Gray, received only bruises.

Mr. Cutting was taken to the Glen Cove Community hospital, but never regained consciousness. Mr.
Cutting was 36 years old. His wife is in Europe.

Mrs. Cutting, daughter of William C. Robertson, of Virginia, sailed for France on April 26 with her three children to visit Mr. Cutting's mother, Princess Boris Scherbatoff.
Mr. Cutting, only son of the late Henri Mason Cutting, was a graduate of the Harvard Law school and a member of the Harvard Racquet and Tennis and Knickerbocker clubs.

In the first automobile to stop at the scene of the wreck was Countess Salm, the former Millicent
Rogers. She went to the hospital with the men.

FIGHTING MEN FALL 115 FEET TO DEATH

Being Raised Out of Caisson in a Bucket, They Hurl Each Other to Death.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, June 6.—Michael Naughton and Thomas Loftis, employed in a caisson 115 feet deep and about 8 feet in diameter, became embroiled in a quarrel early this morning, the nature of which will never be known, for both are dead.

Entrance and exit to the caisson
is by means of a steel bucket, raised and lowered by an electric winch.
This morning, shortly after the men had gone down, a signal came to lift the bucket. The operator of the winch noticed it was unusually heavy and moved jerkily.

When the bucket came in sight
Loftis was hanging to one edge and Naughton the other, striking and kicking each other. When within 10 feet of the top and safety, Loftis gathered all his strength and struck Naughton a terrific blow. Naughton lost his hold and fell down the narrow well. The force of the blow caused Loftis to lose his grip and he, also, pitched down the 115 feet.

Dr. Eckener Injured When His Car Skids

Berlin, June 6 (By A. P.).—An automobile in which Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin company, was riding last evening
skidded and crashed into a tree.
Eckener being picked up unconscious. When he was revived it was found he had suffered only a few minor bruises. The chauffeur, however, received a fractured leg.
Dr. Eckener piloted the dirigible ZR-3, built at the Zeppelin plant for the United States, and now known as the Los Angeles, across the Atlantic to Lakohurst, N. J., in October, 1924.

MILITARY TRAINING SYSTEM ASSAILED BY CHURCH COUNCIL

Compulsory Courses Held Not Up to Educational Ideals in U. S.

NOT APPROPRIATE, SECRETARY STATES

223 Senior Units in Colleges of Nation, War Depart- ment Reports.

(By Associated Press.)

Recommendations against compulsory military training in schools and colleges, which was declared to be foreign in ideals of the educational system, were made public last night by the administrative committee of the Federal Council of Churches.

Coincident with the committee's appeal was the publication of a War Department statement reviewing the growth of the reserve officers training corps, showing that applications of nineteen universities and colleges and 35 high schools for R. O. T. C. units were on file, but could not be approved because of lack of funds.

The committee's appeal asked church people throughout the nation to study the whole question of militarism in education, and expressed special dissatisfaction over the extension of the program of military training, of an elaborate and technical character, even into the public high schools.

Believing the matter should be judged with a knowledge of facts,
the announcement said, the committee has authorized the Federal council's commission on international justice and good will to publish pamphlet giving both sides of the question of military training.

The argument in favor of it will be presented by Maj. Gen. Charles P.
Sumner, commander of the New York area of the United States army.

Deplored as Foreign.

"That systematic and technical military training for youth of high school age is to be deplored as foreign to the aims and ideals of our educational system."
"That civilian educational institutions should not make military training a required subject."
"That churches and educational leaders give careful study to the whole question of R. O. T. C. in schools and colleges."

Rev. Sidney L. Gulick, secretary of the commission on international justice and good will, in a statement interpreting the committee's action
said that what the committee is objecting to is not the simple form of military drill, such as was found in certain schools before the war, "but the highly technical and systematic training."

Rockefellers Donate $250,000 to Church

Cleveland, Ohio, June 6 (By A.
P.).—John D. Rockefeller, sr., and John D. Rockefeller, jr., have given $250,000 outright and $100,000
conditionally to the Euclid Avenue Baptist church here to aid completion of the church's auditorium and Sunday school. Announcement of the donations was made today.

John D., sr., gave $200,000 and John D., jr., gave $50,000. Both promised to donate $100,000 more if the church itself can raise $350,- 000.

In his active days John D., sr., was superintendent of the church's Sunday school.

Doctors Arrested After Girl, 5, Dies

New York, June 6 (By A. P.).— Despite his frequent assertions that he did not wish to run again, Gov.
Smith will be a candidate for re-election in the belief of Democratic leaders, the New York Times will say tomorrow.
At the wedding of the governor's daughter at Albany Saturday, Democratic leaders were virtually unanimous in feeling that the situation was such that the governor would have to run again, the paper will say.
Every Democratic leader expressed complete confidence that the governor would be reelected if he ran. The State organization of the Republicans is basing its campaign on the expectation that Smith will be renominated, the paper will say, and is preparing an attack upon his policies in a State-wide campaign two months before the conventions nominate their tickets.

PRESIDENT'S PASTOR ATTACKS PARKING RULE

Order Banning Cars From Standing on Tenth Street Sunday Is Object.

SHOULD ABROGATE LAW

President Calvin Coolidge was numbered in the attendance at the morning services of the First Congregational church, Tenth and G streets northwest, yesterday, and with his fellow worshippers, heard
the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the church, assail the traffic conditions which attend members of his congregation Sundays.

Dr. Pierce paid particular heed to the parking problem. On Tenth street from F street to New York avenue, he said, no parking is permitted on the east side of the street on both week days and Sunday. His verbal attack urged the suspension of this restriction on Sunday to accommodate both church and theater goers.

"I want to tell all members of this congregation who have parked their cars on the east side of Tenth street this morning that they have violated the law," Dr. Pierce began, startling his listeners.
"However, I have already inter-ceded for you with Traffic Inspector Brown, and the violation will be overlooked today," he said. "When people want to attend church they want to come to church and not ride around the streets," he said in stressing the point that parking space on Tenth street is difficult to be found, "and I am sure that our neighboring church (St. Patrick's) experiences the same difficulty."

In closing, Dr. Pierce urged the members of his congregation who did not approve of the restriction to write to Traffic Director M. O.
Eldridge and voice their opinion in the matter. On the other hand those members who did approve of the ban were also asked to communicate with the traffic head and give their opinions of the subject.

60 Young Royalists Assail Nantes Mayor

Nantes, France, June 6 (By A.
P.).—Sixty young royalists clashed with the police today in a demonstration against the mayor for his refusal to authorize a Corpus Christi procession in the city. The clash occurred in the courtyard of the city hall. One royalist was arrested, and later released.

Prior to this incident the Catholics in the Nantes region staged a peaceful manifestation as a protest in the private park of a religious establishment.

GOV. SMITH WILL RUN, PARTY CHIEFS ASSERT

GRAVES OF WEARERS OF GRAY DECORATED BY WAR COMRADES

Old Glory Flies With Stars and Bars of South
at Arlington.

LAST OF MOSBY'S MEN
ATTEND MEMORIAL RITES

Tributes to Lee and Jackson Paid by A. G. Weaver, of Front Royal, Va.

Old Glory and the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy waved side by side above vindications of the cause of the South, tributes to the valor of the Confederate soldiers, and expressions of loyalty to the Union, at memorial services yesterday in the Confederate section of Arlington cemetery.

The occasion was marked by the strewing of flowers over the graves of the Confederate dead in the cemetery and on the tomb of Gen. Joe Wheeler. The memorial service was under the direction of the District camp 171, United Confederate Veterans.

Assembled in the grandstand were about 30 uniforms in gray along with the other veterans and the speakers. Fifteen of Col. John S. Mosby's men were present, having come from Clarendon, where their thirty-first reunion was held the day before. A crowd of 1,000 persons, many of them descendants of Confederate veterans, was present.

Expressions of Southern sentiments by speakers, conjuring up in their eloquence the spirit of the Confederacy and the martial spirit of battle, frequently was drowned by the motors of airplanes overhead, a modern commentary.

Petty Is Speaker.

The preliminary remarks of Capt. J. T. Petty, commander of the local camp, were affecting. He said: "It must be apparent to all who care to see, that the honor of the country is safe in our keeping. The integrity of its institutions we would defend with our lives, and the prayer of our hearts is that the stars, which nightly shine in the blue vault of heaven above us, may not be more enduring than those which sparkle in the flag of our country."

"In the light of all the facts, it is clear that we were not rebels against lawful authority, but patriots, moved by the love of country. No taint of treason mars our escutcheon, or stains the memory of our noble comrades who yielded their lives for a great principle, and sleep in honored graves here and elsewhere throughout our Southland."

MOSBY'S MEN DECORATE GRAVES

The conflict between the North and South was a question of whether States' rights or national authority should be supreme, Aubrey G. Weaver, attorney of Front Royal, Va., declared in the principal address of the service. It was not a war between "traitors" and patriots, he said, but a conflict in which one opinion was as good and honorable as the other.

Resentment Expressed.

The opposition to the restoration of the Lee mansion in the cemetery and statements made in that connection by several organizations affiliated with the Grand Army of the Republic brought expressions of resentment and was clearly responsible for the many references to "traitors."

"Robert E. Lee a leader of traitors! Stonewall Jackson a traitor!" Mr. Weaver exclaimed. "My reply to the ladies responsible for this statement—and you will know whom I mean—is 'May God forgive you, for you know not what you say!'"

Mrs. Charles Wells Russell, a sister of Col. Mosby, was present.

George M. Dorsey, of Petersburg, Va., presented to Capt. Frank M. Angelo, of Washington, leader of the survivors of Mosby's battalion, a shell-torn flag of the famous guerrilla band, which had been preserved by his father, John Dorsey, one of Mosby's men. The flag had never been shown "to a hostile eye," he said. The scene, which occurred after the services, was made more affecting by the fact that Capt. Angelo and several of the veterans immediately recognized the flag.

The Rev. J. W. Duffy, chaplain of the local camp, pronounced the benediction. The Rev. W. A. Lambeth, pastor of Mount Vernon Place M. E. church, gave the invocation. The United States Army band played the National anthem. "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. Fannie S. Heartill, Miss Lillian Chenoweth, Charles E. Myers and Francis P. Heartill.

Mrs. Gabriel Edmonston was chairman of the flower committee. She was assisted by members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and Children of the Confederacy, led by Mrs. Maude Howell Smith.

HIGHER IDEALS URGED TO ASSURE HAPPINESS

Canadian Prelate Addresses
St. Alban's Graduates
at Peace Cross.

The necessity of high ideals to a truly happy life was emphasized by the Rt. Rev. E. J. Bidwell, lord bishop of Ontario, preaching the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the St. Alban's School for Boys at the open-air evening services yesterday afternoon at the peace cross in Cathedral Close.

He said that in daily life men turn to the dreamers for help and advice, pointing out as an instance the high ideals which have always guided the life of Stanley Baldwin, premier of Great Britain. Mr. Baldwin, the lord bishop said, would rather give up his post than sacrifice his ideals.

At the morning service, held in Bethlehem chapel, Prebendary Wilson Carllie, of the English Church Army, delivered an address. He told of the aims of his organization, how they endeavored to reach the unchurched masses and bring help to the helpless and expressed hope that a similar organization would be founded in this country.

Candy Egg Sales Scheme Forbidden

(By the Associated Press.) The Federal trade commission took another shot yesterday at the candy lottery method of boosting sales. It issued a cease and desist order against Lauer & Suter Co., Baltimore candy manufacturers, forbidding employment of a candy egg sales scheme on the ground that it was a lottery.

Dependent on the color of the inside of a chocolate covered candy egg purchased for 1 cent, youngsters had a chance at much larger and costlier eggs as prizes. Since the color of the filling of the 1-cent eggs could be learned only by buying and breaking them, however, the commission held the transaction was "all a matter of chance."

REVOCATION OF U.S. RIGHTS TO FASCISTI URGED BY SPEAKER

Mussolini Regime Denounced
by Dr. Charles Fama,
in Address.

MASONS TO BE WATERLOO OF DUCE, HE PREDICTS

Ruthless Oustings of Members of the Order From Positions Cited.

Revocation of the right to citizenship in the United States of all fascisti living in this country was advocated by Dr. Charles Fama, of New York, speaking at a mass meeting of the Antifascist league of Washington held yesterday afternoon in Musicians hall, 1006 E street northwest.

The number of fascisti in this country has been estimated by followers of Mussolini at 183,000, and by the New York World at 10,000, according to the speaker.

"Any man who takes the oath of allegiance to Mussolini," Dr. Fama asserted, "is betraying the oath of allegiance to our government. Since Mussolini and fascism became a governing power of Italy," he continued, "they have issued a program, one of the main things of this order, that all Italian men become supporters of his regime and that no Italian under any circumstances should accept the citizenship of any nation, including the United States."

"The emissaries of Mussolini in this country have preached and are now preaching this doctrine. Through this preaching they split the Order of the Sons of Italy in twain."

Ruthless Ousting.

Mussolini's ruthless ousting of all Masonic Italians holding public office as well as others opposed to the existing regime was bitterly assailed by the speaker. "The Waterloo of Mussolini will be Masonry," Dr. Fama predicted.

This remark as well as others made in the address was heartily applauded by the audience, numbering approximately 150 persons. Denial by the speaker that Italy had improved economically under the fascist regime was objected to by a few of those present and about a dozen of them filed out of the hall amid the hisses of the others.

The speaker announced that he was going to call on Representative Albert Johnson, of Washington, chairman of the naturalization and immigration committee of the House, today and urge that the present immigration law be amended so as to exclude all fascisti coming to this country.

Favors Exclusion.

Representative Knud Wefald, of Minnesota, asserted that the exclusion law should not be applied to the fascisti the same as it applied against the radical, socialist and communist.

The speaker asserted that he voted against the Italian debt settlement as a protest against the form of government that Mussolini had fastened upon Italy, and not because he did not wish to be lenient with Italy.

DISABLED VETERANS ATTEND V.F.W. OUTING

600 Former Service Men From Capital Hospitals Are Taken to Maryland.

Approximately 600 disabled war veterans from Washington hospitals held their annual outing on the estate of Maj. and Mrs. M. L. Turner at Berwyn Heights, Md., yesterday. The outing was sponsored by the District of Columbia department of Veterans of Foreign Wars. Charles Kohen was chairman of the general committee in charge of the affair.

The disabled veterans were from Walter Reed, St. Elizabeth's, Mount Alto, Soldiers Home, Veterans Tuberculosis and Naval hospitals. More than 200 automobiles were placed at the disposal of the outing committee to transport the men to and from Washington.

Women of the Overseas League, Daughters of the D. A. R. and the D. A. R. assisted Maj. and Mrs. Turner in serving the soldiers with refreshments and cigarettes and cigars. Music was furnished by the Almas Temple Shrine band and by the Almas Temple "Nut" band.

Army Band Musician Suffers Broken Skull

Richard Hodges, a member of the Army Music school band, and stationed at the Washington barracks, is in a serious condition, suffering from a skull fracture received yesterday in a traffic mishap. He was treated at Emergency hospital and later removed to Walter Reed hospital.

Hodges was riding on a truck driven by Thomas C. Wilson, 416 Eleventh street northeast, when it went over a depression in the road on the Virginia side of Highway bridge and threw him to the road. He was hurried to Emergency hospital.

The Wanderlust is already stirring most of us to the making of outing and vacation plans. Don't overlook the out-of-town "Room and Board" ads to be found from day to day in the Classified Pages of The Post.

Rail Values Sought On Replacing Costs

The national conference on the valuation of American railroads announced yesterday that it would vigorously oppose before the Interstate Commerce Commission contention of the railroads that railroad valuation should be based upon reduction costs.

Through Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, chairman of the executive committee, the conference said it had authorized Donald R. Richberg, of Chicago, its general counsel, to appear at the hearing before the commission June 23 to urge that valuation be based on "actual prudent investment."

MINING ENGINEER, LONG RESIDENT HERE, WILL BE BURIED AT HAMILTON, MASS.

Funeral services for Henry Cleveland Perkins, prominent mining engineer and long a resident of Washington, who died Saturday at the residence of his son-in-law, Col. Robert Wallach, in Warrenton, Va., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Hamilton, Mass.

Mr. Perkins was born 80 years ago at Staten Island, N. Y. He went to California in 1864 where he resided for many years and was active in management of several large mines there. He was subsequently engaged in the operation of mines in Venezuela, Alaska, South Africa and Korea. He was associated with Hennen Jennings and with the Eckstein and the Wehrner and Beck mining firms of London, England.

For the last 26 years he had been president of the Oriental Consolidated Mining Co. He was a director of the Alabama company and a trustee of the George Washington university. He was a member of the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase clubs. For many years he lived at 1701 Connecticut avenue, but later moved his residence to 1717 I street northwest.

Surviving Mr. Perkins are his son, Cleveland Perkins, and four daughters, Mrs. Albert Carroll, Mrs. Francis Ruggles, Mrs. Robert Wallach and Miss Ruth Perkins. His wife died several years ago at Hamilton.

MRS. PAUL W. POPE DIES.

Funeral Services Will Be Tomorrow
In Shrine of Sacred Heart.

Mrs. Nellie Lottier Pope, 61 years old, wife of Paul W. Pope, of 1501 Park road northwest, died yesterday afternoon after an illness of several weeks. She was born in Richmond, Va., the daughter of Lawrence Lottier and Mrs. Mary Hutchinson Lottier, and was a resident of Washington for the last eight years.

Mrs. Pope is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Edmund C. Taylor, Miss Evelyn Pope and Miss Mary Pope, and a brother, Beauregard Lottier, of Ogden, Utah. Funeral services will be held at the residence at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, with requiem mass at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

ARNOLD RITES TOMORROW.

Funeral of Government Editor to Be Held From Pierce Home.

Funeral services for Joseph A. Arnold, 69 years old, who died Saturday in the Chestnut Groves sanitarium, Rockville, Md., will be held tomorrow from the home of Miss Maud Pierce, 25 Third street northwest, at 8 o'clock. Burial will be at Columbus, Ind., Wednesday.

Mr. Arnold came to this city from Columbus in 1885. In 1899 he was appointed editor in chief of the publication of the government printing office. At the time of his death he was connected with the press bureau of the Department of Agriculture. He is survived by his widow and one son, Perry Arnold. Mr. Arnold before his death resided at 200 A street northeast.

FARM RELIEF, ROAD BILLS WILL OCCUPY SENATE THIS WEEK

House, at Same Time, Expects to Pass Many Unimportant Measures.

FRENCH DEBT BLOCKS
EARLY ADJOURNMENT

Hearings to Begin Wednesday
on Ratification, Pending Action by France.

(By the Associated Press.) With adjournment date apparently as much in the air as ever, the Senate will devote more time this week to farm relief legislation, while the House is putting through a raft of unimportant measures.

Friends of farm legislation will continue conferences during the next few days in an effort to work out a measure which will stand some chance of approval by the House and finally by President Coolidge. Vice President Dawes is particularly helpful in the meetings so as to be as helpful as possible in solution of the biggest problem Congress faces.

Besides the farm bill, the good roads measure is certain to be considered during the week. Friends of this bill are insistent that it be approved and sent to the President. They have given notice that Congress can not adjourn until action is taken.

French Debt Stumbling Block. The real stumbling block to adjournment now is the French debt settlement. The Senate finance committee will begin private hearings on this Wednesday with a view to getting the bill of ratification in position for action by the Senate.

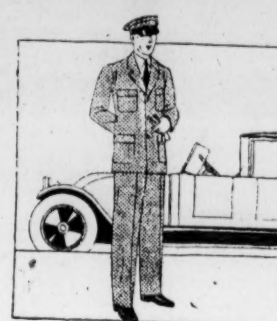

That will not come, however, until the French parliament has acted and there is no information here as to when that will be.

Another Senate inquiry to be put under way this week is that into senatorial primary and election campaign expenditures with the special committee directing its attention first to the Pennsylvania Republican primary in which republicans have had it that several million dollars were spent.

Judgeship Bill in House. The most important measure slated for House consideration this week is that to create twelve additional judgeships. The measure to increase the salaries of the Federal judges also may be taken up.

Today the House will work on unobjectionable bills on the calendar; Wednesday measures affecting public lands will have right of way, and Thursday consideration will be given the bill to transfer supervision of the Virgin Islands from the Navy Department to the bureau of Insular affairs of the War Department.

FRESH SENSATIONS SEEN IN BARONESS' SUICIDE AFTER RUEL

Noblewoman Left Letters.
One of Which Is in Hands of Her Father.

MORE ARRESTS LIKELY:
PRINCE'S PALS SOUGHT

Russian Tells of Fight: Says
He Asked Baron for Right to Wed Latter's Wife.

Vienna, June 6 (By A. P.).—The tragedy of the suicide of Baroness Klinger, one of Austria's most beautiful women, and the fight in the forest between her princely Russian admirer, Cyril Vladimir Orloff, and her husband, Baron Klinger, has been described by Orloff to his attorney, Roch, men were seriously wounded, Klinger being shot in the back, and Orloff having his arm blown off by a hunting gun in the hands of the aggrieved husband.

According to Prince Orloff's account, he entered the forest, after driving from Vienna to Raab and calling on the baroness, in order to plead with Baron Klinger to release his wife, so that he might marry her. Hot words passed between the men, and the prince, observing that the baron had his gun ready and cocked and fearing an attack, fired first. The baron replied with the contents of his gun.

The father of Baroness Klinger refused to divulge the contents of a parting letter which his daughter addressed to him before she killed herself on hearing of the desperate quarrel and its outcome. It was learned, however, from other sources that a sensational turn in the tragedy is impending from unexpected quarters. It is believed that a number of arrests will be made of persons with whom Prince Orloff associated in Vienna, who will be questioned relative to preceding events. These include young Hungarian students and Baron Emmerich von Somogyi, who accompanied the prince to Raab.

Baroness Klinger was buried yesterday, her father, Count Spiegelfeld, her brother and sister and all the tenants and villagers following to body to the graveside. The count, grief-stricken, said that his daughter, upon learning of the encounter in the woods, became extremely excited when she heard that Prince Orloff was badly wounded. Thereupon the sheriff summoned her next day to give evidence. Next day, however, after breakfast, she went to her bed chamber, wrote farewell letters, ordered her carriage, gave the letters to a maid and reentered her room.

"The next moment," said Count Spiegelfeld, "a shot was heard, and when I rushed into my daughter's room I found her unconscious and dying."

The chauffeur who drove Prince Orloff from Vienna to Raab relates that when conveying the prince, who was bleeding badly, from Raab after the encounter, they met a farmer's cart, on which Baron Klinger was being borne to the hospital. When the baron saw his antagonist in the automobile, he raised himself, his elbow, and shook his fist at him.

HOLE BY WHICH ROBBERS ENTERED

Entering through the same hole cut in the wall of the Ohio hotel seven months ago, safe robbers dragged the new safe of the Old Dutch Market, 811 Fourteenth street northwest, beside the safe that was blown last November and rifled it. Policeman R. H. McGhee inspecting the hole through which entrance was gained for the second time.

DOWNTOWN STORE SAFE ROBBERY IS DUPLICATED

BAND GETS $400 IN LOOT

Duplicating almost in every detail a burglary and safe robbery of seven months ago, a band of burglars early yesterday broke into the Old Dutch market, 811 Fourteenth street northwest, broke open the safe and made off with $400. An attempt to open another safe, together with numerous other thefts, was reported to police.

Last November a band broke into the market by chiseling a hole through the wall of an adjoining building, the Ohio hotel, and the safe weighing about 300 pounds from the office to the cellar, broke it open and escaped with more than $400. The hole, which is just large enough for one man to crawl through, was never filled up since the first robbery, and has since baffled police.

Frank Payne, manager of the market, opened the place and found the safe missing. Going into the cellar he found the safe beside the one broken into in November and the money missing. Police were called and Detective John Fowler, of headquarters, was sent to investigate the case.

Police are of the opinion that the same band that committed the first safe robbery are responsible for the latest one. At least five men are in the band, police assume, since it would take that number to carry a safe so heavy from the office down a flight of stairs to the cellar. The same method was used in November.

Leslie Webster, manager of Peoples Drug Store, 1142 Connecticut avenue northwest, reported that his establishment was entered late Saturday night or early yesterday by forcing open the skylight.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to open the safe, and $10 was stolen from the cash register. Detective Fowler is investigating this case also.

Included in the other thefts and robberies reported was that of Mrs. Lola E. Berks, 616 B street southwest. Thieves entered her front yard during the night, she said, and stole four expensive plants valued at $40. Clothing, automobile accessories, jewelry and merchandise, aggregating approximately $200, were reported stolen.

DEMOCRATS TO AID BROOKHART IN IOWA VOTE TODAY, IS HINT

Clark Appeals to Electorate
as "Peace" Candidate in Republican Split.

Des Moines, Ia., June 6 (By A. P.).—Iowa voters go to the polls tomorrow to select Republican and Democratic candidates for the United States Senate and, in addition, the Republicans will decide several primary contests for State offices.

Supporters of Senator A. B. Cummins, who seeks renomination for an office he has held nearly a score of years, declare the vote will be an Iowa house cleaning, referring to the opposing candidacy of Smith W. Brookhart. On the other hand, Col. Brookhart's adherents regard the primary as largely an expression of the voters on his re-unsuiting by the Senate, as well as other issues raised by Brookhart.

A third candidate in the Republican senatorial contest is Howard Clark, Des Moines lawyer, who has appealed to the voters as a "peace" candidate. The Republican party would go a long way toward allaying the party discord that arises largely from Brookhart's differences with leaders of the "regular" wing.

Democratic "Raid" Hinted.

The Democrats have a senatorial contest between J. Ray Files, of Fort Dodge; Claud Porter, of Des Moines; and J. C. Murtagh, of Waterloo, but the minority party fight has aroused little enthusiasm compared to the Republican contest. Democratic leaders have planned a strong fight for this year to send to Washington a partisan Dan F. Steiwer, who was given Col. Brookhart's seat two months ago. There have been intimations from Cummins leaders that the Democrats were intent upon a "raid" of the Republican primary, hoping to elect the nominee of Brookhart, who would again split the Republican ranks and open the way for the election of a Democrat.

The governorship is not involved in the primary, no candidate having entered the field against Gov. John Hammill, Republican. The lieutenant governorship, positions of Attorney General, superintendent of public instruction and congressional and legislative offices are to be filled. Five of the eleven Republican representatives have opposition, but these contests have not produced any hard-fought campaigns.

Ruth Bryan Owens Seeks Florida House Seat Today

Jacksonville, Fla., June 6 (By A. P.).—Florida democracy will go to the polls Tuesday to select in a State primary nominees for one United States senator, two representatives and several State officers.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owens, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, opposes W. Joe Sears for the House from the Fourth Florida district. Senator Duncan F. Fletcher, has two opponents, Jerry W. Carter, Tallahassee, State hotel commissioner, and John Van Valzah, Daytona Beach, formerly a member of the State legislature.

Thomas A. Yon, Tallahassee, opposes J. H. Smithwick, Pensacola, incumbent, for Congress from the Third Florida district. The campaigns in every instance, have been described as mild, with no definite issues advanced.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 6.—Pittsburgh is to have its greatest temperance field day Sunday, October 10, when 107 churches of this district will join in demonstrations intended to further the candidacy of William B. Wilson, Democratic candidate for United States senator against William S. Vare, Republican.

Plans for the demonstration were announced by Davis E. Cruise, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district of the Antisocial league, which is sponsoring the event.

Among the prominent men who will speak are Senator William B. Borah, Idaho, who recently issued a statement calling for strict enforcement of the prohibition law; Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy under President Wilson; former Congressman Richmond P. Howell, of Alabama, and Senator Frank B. Willis, of Ohio.

Fugitive Youth Fires Barn; Dies in Blaze

Smith Falls, Ont., June 6 (By A. P.).—William Clark, a young farm hand, was burned to death when he set fire to the barn of his former employer, C. Empey, to escape capture after an unsuccessful attack on Mrs. Empey and her young son yesterday.

In the absence of Mr. Empey, Clark enticed the boy to the barn and attempted to drug him. The mother, going to the barn to seek the child, also was attacked. Apparently frightened by her screams, Clark released his victims. They escaped to a neighbor's house. When they returned with assistance, they found the barn on fire. The charred body of Clark was found in the ruins.

Gorillas Raid Villages; Keep Women Captives

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Madrid, June 6.—A Spanish military expedition under the leadership of Gen. Munez de Prado, tracing the frontiers of Spanish Guinea, in Africa, reports that large bands of enormous gorillas are terrorizing the natives.

Above the cataracts of the Benito river, near Otocho, the gorillas have raided the villages and have captured native women, whom they are keeping prisoners in the dense jungles around the town. The villagers, are afraid to seek to rescue them.

The general announces he is preparing an elaborate military expedition to rescue the women and to kill or capture the gorillas who also are devastating the plantations.

The Spanish government has instructed the leader to capture the gorillas alive if possible for research experiments.

CHURCH, 118 YEARS OLD, TO OBSERVE NATAL DAY

Second Baptist, Landmark of Southeast, Also to Honor Pastor.

ITS HISTORY RECALLED

A distant picture of a time when a little frame building of a church served a thriving community along one of the principal thoroughfares of a new capital of a new nation was recalled in the services celebrating the 118th anniversary of the organization of the Second Baptist church, Fourth street and Virginia avenue southeast, last night.

Since the establishment of the church, the Rev. Ellis C. Primm, pastor, declared in his sermon, several generations have been cradled in its arch and passed away still worshipping there. Several present members, he said, have been worshippers almost half the 118 years.

The little frame buildings, he said, has been superseded by two other structures, the present brick structure, and a previous brick structure. The other brick building passed away 34 years ago when the present building was erected.

A special program has been arranged for 8 o'clock tonight at the church, when a reception will be given the pastor in recognition of completion of his fourth year as pastor, and also in celebration of the anniversary of the church.

The Rev. F. W. Johnston, pastor of the Grace Baptist church, will speak. Miss Mildred Smith and Miss Ruby Grimsley will sing. Mrs. Hawcock will give a reading. The Hawaiian Melody Boys will play. Mrs. R. E. Jones, president of the Ladies' Aid society, will have charge.

Georgetown College

Pope Pius XI has presented to Georgetown college an autographed picture of himself, which he hung yesterday in the corridor of the Healy building. The photograph attracted considerable attention from commencement visitors.

The inscription, written by the Pope, reads: "To the president and professors of Georgetown college, on the banks of the Potomac, alma mater of all Catholic colleges in the United States, we give our greetings and apostolic benediction. Pope Pius XI."

FORMER BLACKSMITH NOW SWEDISH PREMIER

Five Prohibitionists in Cabinet: All the Others Are of Liberal Party.

Stockholm, Sweden, June 6 (By A. P.).—C. G. Ekman, once a blacksmith and now leader of the center group, representing the extreme prohibitionists, has formed a cabinet to succeed the socialist government of Premier Sandberg, which resigned after chambers of parliament had voted unfavorably on unemployment relief recommendations. The ministry is as follows:

Premier and minister of finance—C. G. Ekman.

Foreign minister—Erich Lofgren (former delegate to the League of Nations assembly).

Justice—J. C. W. Thyrén.

Defense—Senator Rosen, newspaper editor.

Social affairs—Mayor Jacob Peterson.

Communications—M. Zeurling.

Education—Senator Almkvist.

Agriculture—Senator Hellstrom, secretary of the School of Agriculture.

Commerce—Deputy Felix Hamrin, merchant.

In addition to Premier Ekman, there are four prohibitionists in the cabinet—Rosen, Almkvist, Hellstrom and Hamrin. The others are liberals.

Decries Boss Rule
At All Elections

George C. Scurlock, speaking before the Women's Political Study club at the Phyllis Wheatley Young Women's Christian association yesterday, decied the American tendency to encourage boss rule by failure to register and vote at primaries and elections. The meeting was also addressed by Mrs. Eunice Baker, of Steubenville, Ohio, and Joseph N. Jones, of this city.

Musical numbers were furnished by William Hawkins and J. H. Lee. Miss Jeannette Carter presided.

ZAGLOUL PASHA SELECTS NEW EGYPTIAN CABINET

Adly Yeghen Heads Ministry
After King Gets Advice of Nationalist Chief.

CONDITIONS ARE CLEARING

Cairo, Egypt, June 6 (By A. P.).—A new Egyptian cabinet has been formed with Adly Yeghen Pasha as premier and minister of the interior. This ministry replaces that headed by Siwar Pasha and is reported to have been constituted by the request of the king on the advice of former Premier Zagloul Pasha.

Zagloul, whose party was overwhelmingly successful in the recent elections, and who himself had been mentioned as possible premier, but withdrew, had a very friendly conversation with King Fuad yesterday, and the general situation continues to improve. The new ministry follows:

Premier and minister of interior—Adly Yeghen Pasha.

Foreign minister—Abdel Khaled Sarwat Pasha.

Minister of finance—Morcos Hanna Pasha.

Justice—Zaki Pasha Abdel Seoud.

War—Kamel Bey Khasaba.

Communications—Moham med Pasha Mahmoud.

Pious foundations—Neguib Pasha Gharabli.

Agriculture—Fathalla Barakat Pasha.

Public works—Osman Moharram Pasha.

A situation described as "distinctly grave" arose a few days ago between Great Britain and the Egyptian government owing to the insistence of Zagloul Pasha that he take over control of the government. The British government, in a note, reserved complete liberty of action. Subsequently Zagloul Pasha withdrew his candidacy for the premiership.

According to London dispatches Adly Pasha's accession to power would not be welcomed with unreserved pleasure by the British government, as Zagloul would likely wield the real power.

NATIONAL ANTHEM IS ASSAILED BY BISHOP

Christian Could Sing Only the Last Stanza, Asserts the Rev. F. B. Fisher.

Chicago, June 6 (By A. P.).—A real Christian could sing only the last stanza of "The Star Spangled Banner," the Rt. Rev. Frederick B. Fisher, Calcutta, India, said today in his baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of Garrett Biblical institute. "The rest would have to be rewritten before he could sing it," the speaker, a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, criticized the frequent reference to war in the national anthems of this country and Great Britain. "God Save the King," he said, indicates a selfish spirit in asking that British land be preserved above all others.

Business ethics and Christianity have been divorced, he said. The hope of the present age, he declared, is to take the Sermon on the Mount literally. He urged the graduates of the Methodist seminary to forget the intellectual conception of Christianity and to seek its spirit.

MAY CLOSE TODAY

This phase alone the occasion of "interposing the constitutional powers of the House" with the stigma that such action would carry. The attitude is that the system should be broken up, but the committee, sitting in judgment alone of the commissioner, should not couple its opinion of the man's admittedly legal practice with a question of his innocence or guilt on charges of high crimes and misdemeanors.

It is in anticipation of the restricted legal bound nature of the committee's report that Mr. Fenning's foes are preparing to make battle in the House. They are of the mood that regardless of what the guardianship practice constitutes it must be associated from the district commissioner's coup and then of itself disintegrated.

There is some criticism among members, especially among judiciary committee members, that although Mr. Blanton had a strong grievance, he should not have gone so far as to move to impeach Mr. Fenning with the nature of his case. Supporters of the Texan, however, point to his difficulties in getting an investigation of any kind started.

Influences were brought to bear at every turn and it was mostly with a view to getting a searching inquiry that he launched his impeachment proceedings. As soon as he did this two investigations immediately got under way even before the judiciary committee began.

One of these—that by the House veterans' committee—was stopped, however, on the grounds that the judiciary committee was preparing to move.

Bearing on the presumed restricted nature of the judiciary committee's inquiry is the fact that the "impeachment" phase was removed from Mr. Blanton's resolution. As adopted by the House the resolution directed a searching inquiry to see whether the constitutional powers of the House should be interposed. This, it developed, however, did not have the effect of dissociating the proceeding, as it was thought at the time, from the impeachment tenor nor the "high crimes and misdemeanors" charge.

Mr. Blanton found this out immediately he began the presentation of his case because as he would move along he would be asked by members if certain piecemeal testimony constituted "high crimes and misdemeanors."

HUGE MONSTRANCE FOR CHICAGO RITES COMES FROM POPE

Made of Silver, Gold Plated. It Will Hold the Host in Great Procession.

DETAILS OF MUSICAL PROGRAM REVEALED

One Mass Is to Be Sung by 18,000 Women; Another by 60,000 Children.

New York, June 6 (By A. P.).—The monstrance, which will be used at the first benediction and in the great ceremonial procession of the Eucharistic congress at Chicago, arrived today on the Cunard liner Carmania, in the custody of Mar. Turquoia Dini, head of the Propaganda college in Rome.

The monstrance is of silver, plated with gold. It stands 4 1/2 feet high and weighs 15 pounds. It is richly incrustated with symbols of wine and bread, and angels surround the orifice in which the host is placed. The monstrance will be employed in the benediction at which Cardinal Ronzano, the legate from the Vatican, will officiate, and it will also be used in the sacred processions.

The monstrance comes with the blessing of the Pope and will remain in Chicago as the gift of Cardinal Mundelein for the sanctuary in that city. Coming under bond, it will go direct to Chicago and there be opened for the first time since it was sealed in Rome.

Rich Musical Programs.

Chicago, June 6 (By A. P.).—Announcement of the full programs of music for the eucharistic congress in Chicago June 29 to 31, one of the most elaborate features of the event, was made today. The Rev. J. H. Nawn, chairman of the music committee, expressed a belief that many musicians, non-Catholic as well as Catholic, would be attracted to the congress by the unusual musical features.

Prof. Otto A. Singenberger, director of music at the Seminary of St. Mary of the Lake, will conduct the choir, assisted at the great outdoor organ in the lake front stadium by Dr. J. Lewis Browne, organist of St. Patrick's church and director of music at Notre Dame university.

The program follows:

Sunday, June 20, in the cathedral of the Holy Name.

"Ecce Sacerdos" and "Oremus Pro Pontifice Nostro Pio," John B. Singenberger.

Proper of the mass, Gregorian chant, Mass Solemnis, Pietro Von "Kyrie," "Gloria," "Credo," "Sanctus," "Benedictus," "Agnus Dei," "Gosnautus III," offertory, M. Haller.

"Lauda Stion," St. Thomas Aquinas.

Choirs of the Seminary of St. Mary of the Lake and the Quigley Preparatory seminary, accompanied by 50 members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Choir of 60,000 Voices.

Monday, June 21, in the stadium, Mass de Angeli, composed ninth century; proper of the mass; choir of the Seminary of St. Mary of the Lake and the Quigley Preparatory seminary.

Tuesday, June 22, in the stadium, Rosa Mystica Mass, Vito Carnevali.

Proper of the mass, choir of the Seminary of St. Mary of the Lake and the Quigley Preparatory seminary.

Ordinary of the mass, choir of 6,000 nuns and 12,000 Chicago laywomen.

On the Final Day.

Wednesday, June 23, in the stadium, St. Francis mass, John B. Singenberger.

Proper of the mass, choir of the Seminary of St. Mary of the Lake and the Quigley Preparatory seminary.

Ordinary of the mass, choir of 30,000 students from the Catholic high schools and colleges in Chicago.

Thursday, June 24, at the Seminary of St. Mary of the Lake, Mundelein.

Lyon Village Carnival Will Continue Tonight

The carnival being given under auspices of the Lyon Village Citizens association, postponed Friday and Saturday nights, owing to inclement weather, will be continued tonight, tomorrow night and Wednesday night. Band concerts are scheduled each evening at 7:30 o'clock, followed by dancing in the open-air pavilion from 9 o'clock to midnight, with music by the Jewell Harpers' Columbia Ramblers.

Following a "raid" on the stands, Thursday night by Sheriff Fields, the carnival committee has planned other games as attractions.

Ad Club to Hold "Theatrical Day"

Theatrical day will be a feature of the weekly Ad club luncheon to-morrow at the City club. Performers at local theaters will entertain the members. Heading the program is Brooke Johns and his band. Clifford Brooke will tell a group of stories. Plans for the convention in Philadelphia also will be discussed. Norman K. J. president of the club, will preside at the luncheon.

German Cruiser Goeben Is Turk Navy Flagship

Constantinople, June 6 (By A. P.).—The once famous German cruiser Goeben, purchased from Germany, will be the flagship of the newly organized Turkish navy. The ship, which wrought so much havoc with the allies in the world war, is being refitted by the Turks as a modern battle cruiser under supervision of German naval engineers and ordnance specialists. She has been named the Yavuz Sultan Selim.

While the Turks recognize that in speed, gun power and armor the Goeben is far below the present-day cruiser and battleship standards, they feel she will be quite adequate for patrolling the coasts of the Black sea and Sea of Marmora and of resisting any attack made by any of the Balkan navies on Turkish territory.

Coincident with the refitting of the Goeben, German contractors are building a large modern dry dock and naval base for the Turkish government on the northern shores of the Gulf of Ismid, about 25 miles from Constantinople.

GENEVA HEARS SPAIN IS TO STAY OUT OF COUNCIL

Will Be Absent From June Session Opening Today, Is Report Circulated.

DELEGATE IS IN MADRID

Geneva, June 6 (By A. P.).—The League of Nations council regulation crisis took a new and sensational turn tonight through the circulation of a report that Spain would absent herself from the June session of the council, which opens tomorrow.

Marquis Quinones de Leon, Spain's regular representative, has gone to Madrid to consult with Primo de Rivera, and the league officials have not been informed as to who, if anybody, will sit in his place.

Spain, like Brazil, both nonpermanent members, has been demanding a permanent seat in the council on the same footing as the great powers, but the regulation commission, which has been studying the problem, is opposed to any increase in the permanent members beyond Germany.

Diplomatic circles in Bern get the report that Spain will not oppose the accession of Germany, but has planned not to be represented at the September council and assembly, in keeping with the announcement of Dr. Alfredo Palacios, who has just been named Ambassador to Argentina. Spain could not usefully cooperate with the league except as a permanent member of the council.

Hammond Elected University Officer

Knoxville, Tenn., June 6.—"Success" was the topic on which John Hays Hammond, of Washington, mining engineer and developer of fields in South Africa, Mexico and California, spoke last week at Lincoln Memorial university at Harrogate, Tenn. He was elected vice president of the university.

Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, also of Washington, was elected manager of the university. Hammond, Gen. Allen, Col. Wade Cooper and Chancellor John Wesley Hill, of this city, attended the commencement ceremonies at the university.

Bandits Raid a Game; Boy of 15 Is Wounded

Falls City, Neb., June 6 (By A. P.).—Buff Rasmie, 15, Forest City, Mo., was shot and probably fatally injured by one of five unidentified men who raided a "gaming" party in the Nemaha river bottom south of here late today.

After searching the 60 men participating in the game and obtaining between $2,500 and $3,000, the robbers escaped in an automobile. Rasmie was shot by one of the raiders when a man started to run when ordered to put up his hands.

Potomac Will Elect Its Officials Today

Town officials of Potomac will be elected tomorrow. The polls will be opened from 4:30 p. m. to sundown. Those to be elected are mayor, treasurer, clerk, town sergeant and six members of the council. Present officials representing the law and order ticket seeking reelection are being warmly opposed by the citizen ticket, which is headed by William M. Kleysen, mayor.

MILLER RITES TO BE HELD.

Funeral of Brentwood Woman to Be at Daughter's Home.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock for Mrs. Martha Miller, 74 years old, from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emily G. Haas, and son-in-law, Joseph Haas, in Mount Rainier, Md., where she died yesterday after an illness of thirteen months.

The Rev. Wendell Allen, pastor of the Mount Rainier Methodist Episcopal Church South, will conduct the services, and interment will be in the Bladensburg cemetery.

Mrs. Miller was the widow of Lemuel E. Miller, who died fourteen years ago. For 25 years she had lived in the family home in Brentwood, Md. She is survived by two daughters, besides Mrs. Haas, Mrs. J. T. Hale, of 1423 South Carolina avenue southeast, Washington, and Miss Grace Miller, of Brentwood; two sons, Ralph E. Miller, of Alexandria, Va., and George G. Miller, of Brentwood.

BELL HAVEN CLUB ELECTS DR. MOORE AS NEW PRESIDENT

Former Chairman of Golf Committee Now Heads Organization.

SACRED HEART CHAPEL TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

Mrs. Catherine Lindsey Passes Away at Alexandria Home.

THE WASHINGTON POST-BUREAU, 123 N. Patrick St., Alexandria, Va.

Dr. Samuel B. Moore was elected president of the Belle Haven Golf club at the annual meeting of the club, succeeding J. Randall Catton. Dr. Moore was formerly chairman of the golf committee and also on the board of directors.

Other officers elected were: Edward H. Keizer, vice president; Gardner L. Boothe, 2d, secretary-treasurer, for the second term; Committee chairman to serve for the year are: David J. Howell, greens; Clarence J. Robinson, golf; Edward H. Kemper, house; P. Lloyd, tennis; and Mrs. Louis S. Scott was elected chairman of a committee of ladies of the Belle Haven and Garden clubs, to see that the club grounds are kept in shape and improved.

New directors elected were William S. Snow, Julian T. Burke and Reaumur L. Howell. These will serve with the following directors, whose terms have not expired: J. Randall Catton, Dr. Samuel B. Moore, Edward H. Kemper, Gardner L. Boothe, 2d, Carroll Pierce, Robert S. Jones, John T. Worthington and Clarence J. Robinson.

Eight members of the local club who participated in the golf tournament at Boyce, Va., Saturday afternoon were: Reaumur L. Howell, Julian T. Burke, Carroll Pierce, Jr., Wilmer Joyce Waller, Clarence J. Robinson, Dr. Samuel B. Moore, Dr. F. E. Gantz and Cecil C. Brown.

Mrs. Catherine Lindsey, widow of the late Noble Lindsey, died at an early hour yesterday morning, at her home on Bradford Heights, after a short illness. She is survived by three daughters, Miss Mary Lindsey, Mrs. Overton W. Price and Mrs. G. Charles Sheats, and four sons, Wallace, Eugene, Douglas and Alan Lindsey, all of this city.

Mrs. Lindsey was born in Laurel, Md., and had been a resident of this city since her girlhood. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from Emmanuel Episcopal church, Broadrock Heights, and burial will be in the Presbyterian cemetery.

John J. Devitt, 54 years old, died Saturday afternoon at his home, 1235 South Fairfax street. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alice Devitt. The funeral will take place at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from St. Mary's church.

300 NATIVES STARVE TO DEATH IN SIBERIA

Cannibalism Reported After Soviet Takes Away Guns Used in Hunting.

Nome, Alaska, June 6 (By A. P.).—A tale of deaths from starvation and of cannibalism is told by Capt. Ira Rank, of the motorship Trader, who returned from a trading cruise among the islands in Bering sea.

Capt. Rank says 300 natives at Indian Point, Siberia, across Bering strait from Alaska, died from starvation last winter, and that those of the natives who survived ate their comrades, relatives and dogs. Many of the natives killed their wives and children with knives and then committed suicide to end their misery.

The natives on the Siberian coast, Capt. Rank declares, depend entirely upon their guns to provide the necessities of life. These were taken from them by the Soviets, who feared an uprising. The Soviets will not permit any one to trade or take any ammunition or guns into the country.

Washington Realtors Arrive in St. Louis

St. Louis, Mo., June 6. Delegates of the Washington Real Estate Board, en route to Tulsa, Okla., for the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, arrived at 6 o'clock last night. The Washingtonians stopped over here three hours for sightseeing. Clifford H. Banks, chairman of the entertainment committee, arranged an informal program of amusement for the delegates while here, in which songs by J. M. Bowie was the feature.

The delegation, occupying a special Pullman train, is scheduled to arrive in Tulsa at 7 o'clock this morning.

Elopers Brave Waves Miles in Motorboat

Special to The Washington Post.

Morehead City, N. C., June 6.—Salter Path, a village on an island 10 miles distant over Pinallo sound, is all excited because Miss Mary Hempel eloped with Charles Hays. The elopers crossed the 10 miles of water in a small motorboat and were manœuvred by high seas during the entire trip. They were married by a county magistrate.

Salter Path has 171 inhabitants, but there are no officers of the law. Nobody has been arrested for so many years that the oldest inhabitant can not remember a single infraction of the law by any of their neighbors. The young couple eloped because they could not get the consent of their parents.

$2,600 Lies Untouched In Big Hotel's Lobby

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 6.—Honesty, or at least good luck, prevails in the Waldorf-Astoria. For one hour on Friday with scores of persons passing a folded wad of bank notes, amounting to $2,600 lay on the floor of the lobby untouched and unclaimed. F. H. Maguire, racing man, dropped the roll while on his way to lunch in the men's cafe. The money was in $1,000 and six $100 bills.

Discovering his loss, he summoned James McLoughlin, Jr., house detective. McLoughlin began a search and found the money untouched, near the heavy sofa on which Maguire had been seated. In the thirty-third street corridor, opposite the theater ticket office.

PRINCE URGES SWEDES TO FOLLOW U. S. IDEALS

Royal Couple Attend Mass Commemorating Swedish Anniversary.

GIVES KING'S GREETINGS

New York, June 6 (By A. P.).—Swedish-Americans have a self-evident duty to master the English language and adapt themselves to American ideas, Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus declared today.

The crown prince and crown princess, Louise, attended a high mass in celebration of Gustavus Adolphus day, anniversary of the accession of the Swedish ruler of that name to the throne, held in the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran church this morning.

The Rev. Dr. Mauritz Stolpe, pastor of the church, officiated, wearing a gold-embroidered, white robe presented by the New York conference of the Augustana synod. During the services both the crown prince and his consort participated, the crown prince singing the hymns without a hymnal in distinctly audible tenor voice. At the end of the high mass he extended the greetings of the King of Sweden and the Swedish people to the congregations of the 451 Lutheran churches in the metropolitan area represented at the services.

"I am gratified, indeed," the crown prince said, "to see how well you have preserved Swedish thought and tradition in the use of the Swedish tongue in your services, but on the other hand you must see that it is your self-evident duty as American citizens, to master fully the English language and the ideals of this country that you may become good citizens and fulfill the obligations of American citizenship."

After the services the royal party went to the St. Regis hotel as guests of Olof H. Lamm, Swedish consul general, at a private luncheon.

Rhineland in Paris; Reconciliation Hinted

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, June 6.—Amid the greatest secrecy, Leonard Kip Rhineland arrived in Paris after crossing on the Olympic, where he forsook his name being placed on the sailing list and kept away from the dining room and smoking room. Crain Gariz, the youthful California millionaire who once was reported engaged to Pola Negri, also was aboard the ship and occasionally strolled the deck late at night with Mr. Rhineland and with friends had some meals in Mr. Rhineland's suite.

Friends here hint that Mrs. Alice Jones Rhineland, whom the young husband tried vainly to divorce when his parents discovered negro blood in her veins, is coming to Paris soon—not to obtain a divorce, but to become reconciled with Leonard Kip.

Italian Ambassador Attends Celebration

The anniversary of the proclamation of the Italian republic was celebrated yesterday at the Catholic Church of the Holy Rosary with a solemn high mass, which was attended by the Italian Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. Nicholas De Carlo, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. A. Catania, assistant pastor, and a priest from another church. The Rev. Francis Lardone, of the Catholic university, preached. As the Ambassador entered and left the church, the boys band played the national anthems.

MILITARY TRAINING SYSTEM ASSAILED

training, including combat drill, such as is provided in units of reserve officers training corps, designed to fit men for military service.

Held Not Appropriate.

"The Federal council does not regard such military training as appropriate for adolescent boys."

The War Department statement said there are now 223 senior units and 100 junior units of the R. O. T. C. with a total enrollment of 132,501. Of the total enrollment, 80,531 or 71.6 per cent are receiving infantry training. The Ninth corps area, made up of the Pacific States and the far West, has the largest enrollment with 17,232 students, or 12.4 per cent of the total enrollment is in colleges and universities not essentially military. High schools have 54 units with an enrollment of 31,133.

PRESIDENT WILL HEAR CONTROVERSY IN HAITI

Leaders of Faction Opposed to Administration Sail Ahead of Borno.

LOAN ALSO IS DESIRED

In connection with the sailing yesterday from Port au Prince, Haiti, of Luis Borno, recently named president of the negro republic, and Mme. Borno, for the United States, on the Panama steamship Ancon, to pay respects to President and Mrs. Coolidge, it was learned that Ernest Rigaud and George N. Leger, of Port au Prince, had sailed previously on a different mission.

Rigaud was president of the so-called council of state named by Borno, which in turn selected him as president of the republic after Rigaud was dismissed from the council an hour before the election. It is said, because suspected of favoring another candidate, Leger is the son of the former Haitian Minister here. It is understood that they will protest conditions in Haiti under Borno.

Advices from Haiti indicate that President Borno will be accompanied by Dr. Cumberland, financial adviser, and has been preceded here by Gen. J. H. Russell, personal representative of President Coolidge, and Judge L. R. Strong, who sailed May 23. He will be met in New York by Hannibal Price, minister plenipotentiary.

Haitians, speaking through Percival Tholy, former attaché of the legation here, have assigned two reasons for the presidential trip to secure a second $16,000,000 loan with the help of the financial adviser and the State Department, and to lay before President Coolidge documents in the effort to prove that the father of Borno was a Haitian citizen, and he is, therefore, eligible for the presidency.

WIFE OF FORMER AID TO DAWES OVERCOME

Mrs. Charles S. Morris Found in Gas-Filled Kitchen; Will Recover.

Chicago, June 6 (By A. P.).—Estranged from her husband, Mrs. Charles S. Morris, French war bride of a member of the clerical staff of Vice President Charles G. Dawes' reparations committee in Europe in 1923, was near death tonight from an attempt at suicide in her apartment in Evanston.

Attracted by the barking of her dog, neighbors found Mrs. Morris unconscious in the living room of her apartment. Gas fumes from four open burners filled the four rooms. Physicians said that she had also taken a large dose of a sleeping potion. She was revived in a hospital, where physicians thought she had a chance to live.

The apartment was virtually stripped of furnishings.

Morris, after leaving his post with the reparations commission, came to Chicago to serve as a secretary for the Central Trust Co., of which Mr. Dawes was president.

Stratton Blames Tub Party on Modernists

New York, June 6 (By A. P.).—Earl Carroll's "Bathub Party" was attended by "some well known church people, who were responsible for the whole thing," Dr. John Reboch Stratton said today in a sermon at Calvary Baptist church, in which he attributed the "disgraceful orgy" to modernism in religion.

The principal offender, he said, was a man "connected with a famous modernist church." He did not name the man, but said he was Carroll's "principal guest and patron."

At the time, Carroll, now under sentence of a year and a day in Atlanta prison on conviction of perjury in connection with the party, said it was in honor of his financial backer, W. R. Eldridge.

Dr. Van Dyke's Son Quits Presbyterians

New York, June 6 (By A. P.).—The Rev. Tertius Van Dyke, son of the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, poet, preacher and diplomat, today announced his resignation from Park Avenue Presbyterian church to become a pastor in a country town. His congregation received a second surprise when it was learned that he is going to a church of another denomination, the First Congregational church of Washington, Conn.

"It is simply that I feel as if I want out for that kind of work more than for city work," he explained. "As for the change to a Congregational church, there is and should be nothing unusual in that. Historically, the Presbyterians and Congregationalists have interchanged ministers."

Kenmore Mansion Is To Have Its Old Form

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., June 6.—Work has begun here on the restoration of the two side buildings which originally belonged to the Kenmore Mansion, the home of George Washington's sister, Betty Washington Lewis. These structures, long since abandoned, are being restored on their original foundations which will give the building the same aspect it had in colonial days. Funds for the purpose were provided through the use of funds which were pledged by prominent persons during the recent Kenmore annual meeting. The meeting adopted a building program of $25,000 a year for three years.

A lot means a lot in realty appraisable value when the building sits on a home site in the most quickly successful classified ad columns in Washington. The Post is used to get attention when attention really counts.

Overman Retaining Substantial Lead

Raleigh, N. C., June 6 (By A. P.).—Returns received today from the State primary of Saturday continued to give Senator Lee S. Overman, incumbent, a substantial lead over Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate.

Mr. Reynolds, however, had reduced Senator Overman's lead slightly late tonight, when returns from 772 out of 1,717 precincts were received. Overman had 71,779 votes, while his opponent had polled 45,468.

Representative Zebulon Weaver, Tenth district, running for re-election, had polled 14,071 votes, against 3,197 for his opponent, Felix Alley.

In the Ninth district Representative Al Bulwinkle, candidate for re-nomination, had received more than 14,000 votes out of approximately 15,500 cast. J. A. Dimmette was his opponent.

JEWISH DRIVE NETS 300 NEW ADDITIONS

$1,325 Contributed by 11 Members; 2,000 New Ones Sought.

Workers in the Hebrew Home for the Aged membership campaign reported 300 contributing members last night at a rally held in the auditorium of the home, Eleventh street and Spring road northwest. This represents the work of the first two days of the drive to obtain 2,000 members.

The team captained by Morris Garfunkel lead the men's division and the team headed by Mrs. J. Kotz was the highest in the women's division.

Bernard Danzansky, chairman of the drive, announced the contributing members whose donation was $100 or more as follows: Morris Cafritz, $250; Louis Bush, $200; Abe Lisner, $150; George Horning, $125; Emilie Berliner, $100; Leon Tobiner, $100; Jacob Eisenmann, $100; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Goldsmith, $100; Sol Lansburgh, $100 and Joseph McReynolds, $100. The workers will hold another rally Wednesday night.

Ball Game Permitted; Police at Funeral

Cumberland, Md., June 6. A funeral taking place at the same hour set for a baseball game alone prevented the authorities of Barton, this county, from attempting to stop a game here today. Word had gone out that the game between Barton and Lonaconing, Allegany County league, would not be permitted and when Manager Winfred McKenty, of Lonaconing called on Councilman James McDonald, whose sister-in-law, Miss Jennie Miller, was buried today, he was told the game would not be interfered with, but the same promise would not be made if they attempted to play next Sunday. Officials who otherwise would have stopped the game had as a first duty attendance at the funeral. It was stated.

MRS. ASHBY REELECTED BY SUFFRAGE ALLIANCE

Other Officers to Be Named by the Executive Board Members Later.

3 CITIES SEEK MEETING

Paris, June 6 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Margery Corbett Ashby, of England, was reelected president of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance at the last business session of the congress today. Mrs. Ashby succeeded Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt three years ago when Mrs. Catt resigned after serving nineteen years in the presidency.

Mrs. Ashby is a prominent liberal in politics and several times has stood for parliament. The other officers of the alliance will be elected by the executive board.

The congress discussed the relation of women to the league of nations.

The delegates of the National Women's party marched to the American church to hear Agnes Maude Royden, noted English preacher, speak with the suffrage colors across her shoulders.

Berlin, Rome and Athens have extended an invitation to the congress to meet in these respective cities three years hence, but an invitation will not be accepted for eighteen months.

Sons of Revolution Pay Franklin Honor

Philadelphia, June 6 (By A. P.).—Religious exercises in historic Christ church, a parade, and the laying of a wreath on the grave of Benjamin Franklin marked the opening day of the thirty-seventh annual congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Led by the Second city troop and the color guard of the New York Sons of the American Revolution, the delegates marched to Franklin's grave and then to the church, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Frank A. Smith, Ellenville, N. J., chaplain general of the S. A. R.

Tomorrow the delegates will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the introduction in the Continental Congress of the first resolution of Independence, the meeting will be in Independence hall.

Savage, Once of Yale, Slashes Own Wrists

Los Angeles, June 6 (By A. P.).—Robert Savage, former Yale football player, who was accompanied last week to the marriage license bureau by Clara Bow, in what the motion picture actress described as a trip to humor him, was treated at the receiving hospital last night for razor slashes on both wrists.

Hospital surgeons stated that Savage admitted he had attempted to "end it all" in a fit of despondency over the course of his love affair with Miss Bow. They said he would recover.

The trip to the license bureau was made too late to obtain a marriage permit.

Congress' Greatest Fight Called for Clean Politics

The greatest moral battle in Congress is not the prohibition issue, but clean politics, the survival of constitutional free government, the Rev. William Sheafe Chase, rector of Christ church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and superintendent of the International Reform Federation, declared yesterday in a sermon at the Episcopal Church of the Advent, Second and U streets.

"The issue is created by the 'rum rebellion' which attempts to justify itself by claiming that the law can not be enforced while it is doing everything possible to incite and encourage disobedience of the law," Canon Chase avowed. He said that "the paramount issue in Congress is whether it will submit to and assist the 'rum rebellion' or whether it will serve the general public and defend and protect the Constitution and laws of the United States for the destruction of the alcoholic beverage business."

Canon Chase also advocated two other issues before Congress, the censorship of moving pictures and the proposed Sunday closing law for the District.

CALIFORNIA FIGHTING MENACING FLAMES

Forest Fires in Many Localities Cause Fighters to Be Rushed to Scene.

LIGHTNING STARTS BLAZE

San Francisco, June 6 (By A. P.).—Hurriedly organized fire-fighting crews were rushed into Sequoia national forest in California today, when reports of six fires, ignited by lightning, were received by the United States forest service. Low humidity and exceptionally hot nights increased the fire hazard.

One fire was extinguished tonight and two were brought under control, reports said. At Redding two brush and grass fires that menaced scores of farm homes were practically under control after destroying two farmhouses, burning several miles of fence and dozens of electric power poles and sweeping over large quantities of grass and hay.

The largest fire, started from a cigar carelessly thrown on the roadway, 6 miles east of Redding, swept south in a 2-mile path and extended over 2 miles. Two hundred men fought the blaze all day Saturday.

Another fire started near Centerville and burned over an area 6 miles long and 3 miles wide, taking many miles of fencing. Eleven brush and forest fires were burning in Tulare, Fresno, Kern and Madera counties. Approximately 3,500 acres of brush and 80 acres of forest have been destroyed. But crews of fire fighters are expected to bring them all under control.

One fire, which started from lightning on Mount Tom near Kaiser creek, destroyed 60 acres of heavy yellow pine timber.

PARIS GOLD RESERVE INTACT, SAYS PERET

Morgan Loan Not Depleted; Plans to Check Imports and Consumption.

Paris, June 6 (By A. P.).—The gold reserve in the Bank of France has not been touched, and will not be, for stiffening the franc M. Peret, the finance minister, declared today on leaving the ministerial council at Elysee palace. Neither had the Morgan loan been used up, he said. "If any one started that rumor," he exclaimed, "it is a criminal act. The loan is far from exhausted."

The council decided to put in charge of the ministers of interior, public works, commerce and agriculture the preparation of a program for the limitation of imports and restriction of consumption, which will be discussed at the next meeting of the cabinet. The wheat problem occupied much of the ministers' time, the possibility of reimbursing customs duties on foreign grain being considered.

M. Peret was unable to set a date for the introduction of his financial measures and his forthcoming budget in parliament, but indicated that it would be soon.

May Bar Smoking In National Forests

Missoula, Mont., June 6 (By A. P.).—To counteract the increasing danger of fire in Kootenai national forest, smoking has been forbidden within its confines. Building of camp fires is allowed only by special permit.

L. C. Stockdale, assistant district forester, said today that similar regulations would be extended to other national forests in this section. Two fires burning in the Kootenai forest were believed to be under control tonight.

AT THE LOCAL THEATERS

PALACE

Lucky is the lady who stars in the picture—lucky is the person who sees it—lucky is the management in getting "The Lucky Lady," which opened at the Palace yesterday for a week's run.

Greta Nissen, starting in her fourth Paramount production, is the "lucky" lady of the story written by Robert Sherwood, photoplay critic of Life.

In "The Lucky Lady" Miss Nissen is given an opportunity to play the dual role of Princess Antoinette, a quiet, but self-willed girl, just returned from boarding school, and the character of Mlle. Toni, who speaks and acts Frenchy, but at one time called a red-headed mademoiselle and at another an Italian brunette. In this last character Miss Nissen is most pleasing.

Others in the supporting cast are Mme. Daumery and Sojin, two Japanese characters which lead much to the story. Sojin will be remembered for his remarkable work in "The Sea Beast."

Heading the supplements is a "Fox Variety—Wild America" in which are shown some wonderful views of little-known spots of our own country. There is also an entertaining Our Gang comedy "Baby Clothes," and Pathe News reel, as well as an entertaining music by Gannon's symphony orchestra.

RIALTO

Reginald Denny is at the Rialto in an attraction that bids fair to compete with his other releases. The picture, while not an epic, nor a fairy tale, nor yet a big picture, manages to run through its several reels without causing any boredom.

"Rolling Home" plot takes a hair for the Mohican type wherein the curly-haired was recently exploited as being back home and broke. There is a brisk, humorous plot—and it has to do with a certain Rabbitt who, after starting out to beat the world, comes back to Main Street absolutely broke, but beaming smiles and talk of high finance. The home folks mistake him for a multimillionaire, what with his expensive car and princely airs, and he is unwillingly made a hero. He tries to live up to the reputation which has been thrust upon him and gets into all manner of situations thereby. Everything turns out all right—and the little romance, which has been inserted into the picture at odd intervals, seems in a fair way of becoming materialized.

The usual Rialto presentation this week features Helen Auld, who does a nice little dance, assisted by Ted Gerard.

Henri Sokolov entertains with Mendelssohn's "Concerto for the Violin" and Babette Everitt sings. The newscast and the overture round out an entertaining bill.

EARLE

Bobby Heath's revue, "Hits and Bits of Vaudeville," a clever and well staged musical comedy, headlines at the Earle this week. A fast moving song and dance number billed as "Two Fellows and a Girl," which included a splendid exhibition of soft shoe dancing, seemed to register best with the audience.

Eddie Ray, William Conway and Woe Thomas make up the trio.

Gracie Deacon and Jack Mack offer an allized smart comedy which is so silly that it becomes positively funny. Not so much at the Earle, where the vaudeville stars depicting ancient China duel fighters and boxers.

"Eve's Leaves" with Leatrice Joy and William Boyd is the picture attraction. The usual house music and news features complete the bill.

WARDMAN PARK

The offering at Wardman Park theater this week is the spectacle "Qua Vadis." The picture with a cast of 20,000 ushers in the fourth week of movies at the little theater, out-competes all other attractions.

The film version of the famous story has to do with the tale of the mighty Romans. It is a tremendous production set in spectacular splendor on the actual sites as told in history.

Emil Jennings is cast as Nero, and Lillian Hall Davis, the English star of the stage, appears as Lygia, the beautiful Christian hostage.

"Qua Vadis" was seen several years ago at one of the downtown theaters, so it is not new to the Washington theater-going public. Like most stories there is a fine love theme throughout, with the struggles of the early Christians, their sufferings and hardships to preach the word of God which has endured down through the years.

KEITH'S

A local organization—the George Washington University Glee club—steps out and captures high honors at Keith's this week, competing with some of the best talent on the vaudeville stage. The bill, as a whole, is one of the best seen at the local vaudeville palace for some time.

Belle Baker is the official headliner, the same Belle Baker of yore, with a repertoire of songs—some good, some just so so, and a few excellent. A moody audience last night would have had her remain over another hour or so, it seemed; notwithstanding the fact she occupied the spotlight for close on to forty minutes—rather a long time for a single act.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barry are back again with their character sketches, "Scandals of Hensfoot Corners"—a classic character delineation by Jimmy Barry, one that is seen ever so many times never seems to pale.

Since terpsichore must ever be represented on a representative variety bill, the cards is given this week to Karavaf and his company. Aside from the marvelous dancing of this son of the steppes, the are four young ladies—Joyce Coles, Sylvia Buckley, Beatrice Carr and Kitty French who troupe along with him. The act is excellent. Joyce Coles a darling of the gods.

Harry and Harriet Seeback—Mr. Seeback, the world's champion bag puncher—offer a novelty, Walter Brower, in an original monologue, Herbert Clifton, in a female impersonation burlesque, and the Carl Schenk duo, novelty equilibrist, complete the bill.

Back again, then, to the George Washington Glee club. Directed by Robert H. Harmon, these young collegians offer a series of songs that establishes them at once as an aggregation of entertainers comparable with the best, the educational institutions have to offer. There is a dandy quartet and a quintet of dances with an act good as any seen at Keith's this or any other season. Their rendition of "Horses" is a scream, demanding three encores last night.

From beginning to end, a smooth running bill.

COLUMBIA

"The Palm Beach Girl," offered at the Columbia this week, is a more rollicking kind of comedy film than the charms of feminine stars are usually expended on. In kinds and degrees of absurdity and laughing excitement it ranks near to the familiar works of Harold Lloyd.

Julia, the heroine, admits she never saw an ocean in Iowa, whence she arrives to visit a couple of wealthy aunts in Florida. Furthermore, she isn't fond of the water, having been once nearly drowned in that liquid. So she gets more than a fair share of excitement out of her adventures by the sea, beginning with tarpon fishing and leading up to a wild and hilarious speedboat race from Miami to Palm Beach.

She enters promptly into a contest with her pretty blonde cousin, played by Marguerite Clayton, for the attention of the handsome young sportsman who has simply got to win the boat race. This part is taken by Laurence Gray. Adventures by rail, motor car, speed boat and airplane follow. The atmosphere is mostly that of the bracing salt sea, and those who are satiated with movie versions of the ways of wealth and fashion will find little to complain of in that respect.

The extra comedy, "Going Crazy," is better than the average of its kind. The usual news pictures are shown, and the musical features are admirable.

METROPOLITAN

Exceptionally well done as "The Reckless Lady" appears to be, it nevertheless is a little difficult for the casual observer to discover just why and where she was reckless. The picture appears this week at the Metropolitan theater. The story is of a wife and mother who gambled herself into the power of a villain, Lowell Sherman, who so far forgot himself that he wrote her a compromising letter. The husband finds the letter and is interrupted in the killing of the writer only by the world war. Turning the beautiful wife out of the house as he goes to fight the Huns, she is driven to gambling for a living. This she does successfully, the roulette wheels of Monte Carlo being easy victims for the lady, who always picks the right number.

Brooks Johns is very much among those present and does his stuff in a manner that breathes vitality and more or less unharassed energy. A good comedy, a picture of an O. Henry story, and a Pathe News reel complete a good bill.

They all come back for more

Why is it that the children are now so fond of a food that is good for them to eat? It's the flavor, the new good flavor, of this new good food! Do you know it yet? Have you tried it? Can you name it?

Some say it's a "pop-corn" flavor. Others not. The tempting, tantalizing taste of Heinz Rice Flakes isn't easy to describe. It's so new.

But it's good... yes, very, very good... this fascinating flavor of these crisp and crunchy flakes.

And with this delightful flavor, Heinz Rice Flakes are also nourishing and strengthening. Children thrive on them. Grown-ups eat them for their sustaining qualities. Good any time of the day. Another food surprise from the House of Heinz.

OHIO POLITICS.

Announcement that former Senator Allee

Pomerene has yielded to the urgings of Ohio Democrats to become a candidate for the United States Senate has complicated the political situation in the Buckeye State. Until

Mr. Pomerene indicated that he would be willing to make the race for the Senate, things were going very smoothly. Two or three Democrats had announced their candidacy for the Democratic nomination, including Judge Florence E. Allen, of Cleveland, who was elected to the supreme bench by the greatest plurality ever given a candidate for that office. Miss

Allen, while affiliated with the Democratic party, ran as an independent when chosen supreme court judge, and she has demonstrated her vote-getting ability. She has been one of the leading prohibitionists of Ohio, and undoubtedly has the support of a large proportion of the woman vote in both major parties.

Naturally the entrance of Senator Pomerene into the race is not relished by Miss Allen, and her friends insist that should she fail to win the nomination in the Democratic primary she will run as an independent. Should she persist in this it will make the outcome of the senatorial election very uncertain, for Senator Frank R. Willis will depend largely upon the dry vote for reelection. With this vote divided between him and Judge Allen, and a large part of the woman vote going to the latter, the chances of Senator Willis would be materially lessened.

It is conceivable, but hardly probable, that Miss Allen could defeat Senator Pomerene in the primary. The latter will have the organization behind him, and this, of course, will make his chances better than those of his rival.

Senator Pomerene's candidacy undoubtedly will project the prohibition question into the campaign, for while the senator has always been strong for law enforcement, he is classed as a mild wet. He voted against the submission of the eighteenth amendment, but for the Volstead act. Should he be named by the Democrats, the issue will be clear-cut between him and Senator Willis, whose strength lies largely in his advocacy of prohibition. With Miss Allen running as an independent and also bidding for the dry vote as well as the woman vote, it is clear that Senator Pomerene would have some advantage over the opposition, notwithstanding the fact that Ohio has twice voted against modification of the State prohibition law.

Should Pomerene win in Ohio on a modification issue, it would place him in line for the presidential nomination in 1928, not only because Ohio is a pivotal State, but because as would be free from the drawbacks that have been urged against other candidates.

Altogether the Ohio primary, which will take place August 19, promises to become most interesting in a national sense.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.

The legislative committee of the Interstate Commerce Commission approves of the Parker bill for the consolidation of the railroad systems of the country. The commission has been struggling with this problem ever since the passage of the transportation act of 1920. No plan could be found acceptable to the railroads themselves. Hearings on the question have consumed much time and work.

The legislative committee expresses the hope that the bill may pass speedily, thus relieving the commission from the existing mandate of the law that it put out, as soon as may be, a complete plan of consolidation. Commissioner Esch states that the Parker bill meets the requirements of the situation and embodies "a betterment of existing law which is fully justified by our experience and observation."

TRANSPORTATION IN BERMUDA.

At last there is a possibility that Bermuda

may be traversed from Hamilton to St. George in automobiles. Recently the house of assembly granted approval for the building of a "light railway." But before starting construction of the road the company which secured the right desired to be assured that the present inhibition of auto vehicles would be continued for at least 40 years. The promoters are willing to take no chances of auto competition. The assembly, however, by a vote of 17 to 16, declined to bar all motor transportation for 40 years. That does not assure the immediate granting of permission to use the narrow highways of the islands for auto traffic, and visitors will have to be content for some time to come with the ancient means of transportation, which is the horse-drawn "victoria" or "surrey," piloted by a courteous native darky with the accent of a cockney and the manners of a gentleman.

"Did you ever see a locomotive?" inquired a Yankee visitor as he was being driven from the calabash tree made famous by Tom Moore

to the former home of Mrs. Frances Hodgson

Burnett, past the "Annette Kellermann cave."

"No, sir," responded Uncle Tom, "but I have seen a picture of one, and after my children grow up I am going to the States just to look at a locomotive."

"How about an automobile, have you ever seen one?" "Oh, yes, sir,"

was the quick reply; "we had one here once, but we chucked it into the sea, because it scared our horses. Why," pointing to a motorboat out in the bay, "there's the top of that auto right now. They fixed it on to that boat for an awning."

Still the refusal of the assembly to bar motor vehicles does not mean that flivvers will supersede surreys and victorias this summer.

UNLIMITED DEBATE.

Recent discussion in the Senate on the proposal to change the rule governing debate reveals that many senators fail to appreciate the fact that a great change has come over the Senate which will ultimately compel a change of its rules. The Senate is not what the founders intended it to be, and not what it was when the rules were adopted.

The primary and the direct election of senators have wrought a great change for the worse. The primary permits the nomination of a candidate who is not bound by any party platform, and the direct election system opens

the Senate to individuals whose "vote getting" abilities are no criterion whatever of their fitness for the office. The Senate has fallen off in ability and prestige, and the fact is well understood everywhere except in the Senate.

The right of unlimited debate in the Senate was formerly voluntarily qualified by senators who held themselves responsible for abuse of the right. They observed the rule of senatorial courtesy, which required them to respect the rights of other senators. They had a high sense of personal and official dignity which compeled them to transform themselves into the similitude of hogs crowding to monopolize the trough. They were under party responsibilities which commanded them to promote good government. Being fallible, they sometimes wandered from their subject, but they were not so lacking in self-respect as to invite ridicule and contempt by blatantly thrusting irrelevant, self-exploiting and time-wasting speeches into the public business.

Impudent attempts are made to justify Senate filibusters, but they all simmer down to the argument that "the end justifies the means." A filibuster is proof in itself that the Senate is not functioning as it should. It is almost invariably an attempt by a minority to prevent the Senate from functioning. The apologists of the filibuster hold that the wisdom of the obstructionist minority is always demonstrated in the end, which is equivalent to asserting that the majority are always wrong—that the Senate's natural propensity is always to pass foolish laws.

The rule of the majority is imbedded in American institutions. Few, if any, senators who oppose that rule for the Senate are in favor of the proposal to require the United States Supreme Court to reach its decisions by a two-thirds vote. Senators are elected under the majority rule; would they be willing to run for office under a rule requiring them to obtain two-thirds of the vote? The majority rule applies to all votes on bills in the Senate; and yet it is contended that American institutions would be endangered if the majority should order a vote?

It is suggested that a change of the rules would result in an increase of badly digested and foolish laws. This indictment of the Senate by senators is not to the credit of either, but it remains to be proved that the output of poor legislation is restricted by the present rules. If the quality of legislation can be improved by restrictive rules, why not make the rules still more obstructive, so that all legislation shall be perfect? Is the Senate afraid of itself? Does it feel within itself an imprisoned demon that would burst out in a flood of dangerous laws if senators were compelled to vote instead of talk?

The Senate prolongs every long session of Congress. This session could have ended by March 4, with all necessary business dispatched, if senators had not violated the rule of senatorial courtesy by trespassing upon time and patience with useless and often harmful talk. The stock of public misinformation, prejudice and vulgarity is enormously increased by the output of talk from some senators who are defending the rule of unlimited debate.

No other lawmaking body in the world has a rule which makes the right to talk "paramount to the right to vote. All of them except the United States Senate recognize the fact that unlimited speech is equivalent to a denial of each legislator's rights. The Senate formerly made its rule workable by the voluntary exercise of courtesy on the part of senators. Now that common courtesy in the Senate is unfashionable, and political floundering in unlimited volume takes the place of orderly debate, it is obvious to everybody except the Senate that the people will ultimately compel it to change its rule.

LYDD GEORGE IN FIGHTING MOOD.

The schism in the ranks of the British liberal party goes on apace and widens daily. At the luncheon given in honor of Sir John Simon at the National Liberal club on Friday last, the Earl of Oxford and Asquith indicated that he rejected all offers of peace, and made it clear that his breach with David Lloyd George is past repair. He had nothing to add to his previous declaration on the subject and nothing to take away from it. On the following day, at the Manchester Reform club, Lloyd

George countered this attitude of hostility by defying the "angry bull of excommunication" by which he had been assailed, asserting that he had no intention of accepting his dismissal from the liberal party, that he could not be driven from the liberal platform, and that he saw no sign of his being ousted from his leadership of the liberals in the house of commons. He complained that he had not received a square deal from the Asquithians, and demanded that, if there must be a split, "let it be a real quarrel, not a rotten quibble."

"The little Welshman" is evidently in a fighting mood, and he fights best when the situation seems desperate and he has his back to the wall. His sallies against some of his former colleagues were particularly telling. He caused a sensation by asserting that two of his present bitterest personal foes, W. R. M. Pringle and Walter Runciman, had, within the last year, begged him to speak in their constituencies and had afterward thanked him in writing for complying with their requests. To hearers, who were absolutely sympathetic and showed their feelings by rising en masse and singing "Auld Lang Syne," he quoted with zest a speech, made within the last two months, in which Sir John Simon, Asquith's principal lieutenant, thanked God for Lloyd George. His mordant comment on that enthusiastic bit of appreciation was: "He now says that he misled the Deity on that occasion." His thrust against Asquith, the titular leader of the party, was fierce—and unforgetable. Dealing with the accusation of "instability" leveled against himself, Lloyd George retorted: "That's an old charge that has always been brought against any man who is alive. Movement and life—they are always unstable. It is the stick-in-the-muds that are stable."

While the former coalition premier was thus ridding his quondam associates, one of them, W. R. M. Pringle, was engaged in the attempt to undermine him by renewing the charges that last August the supposed liberal leader was intriguing to join the conservatives, and that as recently as last May, during the general strike, he was scheming to throw in his lot with the laborites, on three conditions, which

Pringle, speaking apparently on inside information, categorically set forth.

The process of washing dirty linen in public, in whatever light it may appear to the partici-

pators, is generally disgusting to onlookers, and these bitter recriminations and accusations bode ill for the future of a once great and powerful British political organization. One side or the other may emerge victor from the internecine fray, but both will be so weakened in popular esteem as to cause liberalism to totter on its foundations and, conceivably, to compass the annihilation of the party which, under able, experienced, wise, and revered leaders, has been for so many generations its trumpet-tongued exponent.

REMEMBER THE VETERANS.

All signs point to an increase of revenue in spite of the tax reduction. The country is prosperous and the Treasury will show a surplus after all government needs have been satisfied. The public debt is being cut down at the average rate of $900,000,000 a year. In these circumstances it does seem a pity that Congress does not grant an increase of pensions to the rapidly dying veterans of the civil war and their widows. There are only 114,000 veterans left, and the number of widows is about 200,000. The deaths are at the rate of 2,000 a month in each class.

The veterans are now 80 years of age and over. They are mostly dependent upon their pension, which is not sufficient to keep them in comfort. They should receive at least $100 a month each, without qualification as to their physical condition or other means of living.

The United States is now in a position to pay off its debt to these saviors of the Union. No one would be injured by this small allowance. The taxpayer would not feel it, and might even obtain a reduction in taxes notwithstanding the allowance of a more liberal pension to the civil war veterans and their widows.

Every consideration of humanity, gratitude, and public interest calls upon Congress to make the declining days of the remnant of America's defenders comfortable and free from want.

THE SURPLUS AND THE DEBT.

The administration announcement that the Treasury surplus at the end of this and the next fiscal years will be applied to a reduction of the public debt is not a new program. This was announced some time ago, when an effort was made in some quarters to increase tax reduction by applying the surplus to that item and extending the reduction of the public debt further into the future.

When the 1925 tax reduction bill was under consideration it was proposed that the reduction of the public debt should be postponed, and that thereby further reduction in taxes might be accomplished. It was represented that this was the public wish. But Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Mellon opposed postponement of debt reduction.

Obviously the rapid reduction of the public debt is the wisest course to pursue. A public debt is on precisely the same economic plane as a private debt; the more rapidly it is reduced and the sooner it is paid, the better will be the national credit. Furthermore, reduction of the public debt is one way to reduce direct taxes. The smaller the debt

the smaller the interest to be paid; and all interest must be paid out of taxes.

Contesting a seat in the United States Senate costs money. The Senate has agreed to reimburse Senator Stock, recently seated after a contest, in the sum of $15,000. "For inquiries and investigations and other expenses in assertion of his right to a seat in the United States Senate." The Senate also voted to reimburse former Senator Brookhart in the sum of $10,000 "for all expenses incurred in defense of his right to a seat in the United States Senate."

For Lame Ducks.

Brooklyn Eagle: President Coolidge has signed the bill providing for a 70,000-acre Mammoth Cave national park. Money for the purchase has been raised by popular subscription. The next thing will be to stock the place with lame ducks from the congressional ranch. Since salaries must be paid, they should go to deserving Republicans.

When Will It Come?

Baltimore Sun: Fifth avenue and Fifty-eighth street, New York, recently pulled off a good imitation of a geyser when and undergirded steam pipe burst. And, as the newspaper report puts it, several motorists drove their car on the sidewalk in confusion

A MODERN MARRIAGE

An Absorbing Novel
By IDAH MCGLONE GIBSON

CHAPTER XXXIV

A Living Life.

I HAD just come to that conclusion, Jim," Starmount said, when Kirby had told him that Elton Foss had been married by one of the many women with whom he had had affairs. "How did you find it out at this time?"

"From Kathryn's story. As we thought, she did say something which has put us on the right track. You will see it as plain as day when you hear it. Listen, this is what Kathryn has written."

Day after day Rodney and I drifted further apart and I watched my whole scheme of life crumble to dust.

I had to acknowledge to myself that my own marriage was more of a failure than those I saw about me. I had to acknowledge that my dream of happiness had dissolved, and with the ruin awaiting came the fact that even my friends thought I was a discarded sweetheart of Rodney Evans.

I had no redress. My reputation—the reputation which I had so blithely considered as my right, beside my silly and egotistical plan of a secret marriage in which both myself and Rod were to live just as we had before—was gone.

I had lost love and I had not retained even the empty honor of being an honest wife.

I found that I was encountering many annoying advances from men whom I hardly knew and I had also found something which made even more discomfort for me. Rod was like a dog in the manger. He was intensely jealous of any man who paid me attention. He took all the liberty that our queer marriage contract gave him but he seemed to think I was bound by all the wifely conventions even if the world did not know there had been a wedding ceremony.

Rod's attentions to Sada Fillmore were the theme of every gossip in the village. Naturally I was hurt and humiliated to the point where it became an obsession with me to be seen in a popular restaurant, preferably one where I knew Rod and Sada would be almost sure to quarrel. This led to constant quarrels between Rod and myself, for when he reproached me for being seen so often with Elton Foss I countered with the accusation that he was always with Sada Fillmore.

"It's all wrong, Kathryn," he said one evening. "We are living a life quite as much as though we were living together, not married. Let's make our marriage public."

I feel that I was insisted that we should not do so. I did not want my friends to know that my plan of life which I had so often expounded to them was not livable.

"Then," Rod said, "I shall have to go to different ways. I shall not return here until something definite is done."

Strange, isn't it that two people can love each other as much as Rodney Evans and I and yet let hatred and stubborn pride come between them. I know now that there isn't so great a chasm between love and hate as people think. As soon as Rod told me that he was not coming to see me again, I felt immediately that I could not live without him. The same kind of emotion must have stirred Rod's heart, for he turned to me, saying, "Surely not two people who have been as happy as we could part and go our separate ways without great regret."

"Put on your wraps and we'll go somewhere to dinner and then you can come with me to the theater. The other night Sada gave me an idea for a new scene to 'pep up' that second act opening; we're going to try it tonight. We'll have to hurry through because I told her I would be there before 7."

Then and there I discovered in me those human qualities which I had ignored in planning our secret marriage—jealousy and pride of possession. Neither Rod nor I were superhuman; to each of us love had meant possession. The introduction of Sada Fillmore's name froze the acceptance of Rod's dinner invitation on my lips.

"I'm sorry dear," I said, "but I have already made an engagement to dine with Elton Foss."

Elton Foss' name did the same thing to Rod that Sada Fillmore's did to me.

Furiously he accused me of caring more for other men than for him, saying: "Oh, what's the use! If you cared you would break your engagement with Foss."

"And if you cared you would break your engagement with Sada Fillmore."

break your engagement with Sada Fillmore. There is no reason for taking me around to give triumph to the attentions that you shower upon Miss Fillmore. I do not intend to be tied to her chariot wheel."

"I don't know but that it is better to be tied to Miss Fillmore's chariot wheel than to be victoriously exploited by Elton Foss."

"Go," I said furiously. "Go, I hate you. Do not return to me until you can treat me with respect."

It seemed to me that Rod turned away a little reluctantly but I told myself perhaps I was mistaken that I saw only reluctance in him. I wanted him, oh I wanted him to come back.

THE MORNING COCKTAIL.

By Viola Paris.

"FRUIT is gold in the morning."

Thus starts an old proverb the rest of which I do not quote, because I don't believe that fruit is ever "gold." On the contrary, it is one of the most precious tonic foods that we have.

There is no gainsaying the fact, however, that at no time is it more appropriate than in the morning. It is the best possible beginning for breakfast; indeed, it can well make the entire meal.

If you awaken with a heavy, disagreeable feeling, no particular energy either of mind or of body, the probability is that your blood has been piling up acid during the night. You need an antidote. And the best antidote lies in the sour citrus fruits.

Let orange or grapefruit juice be your morning cocktail. The oft-prescribed juice of half a lemon in hot or cold water, taken immediately upon arising, is excellent and need not interfere with other fruit at breakfast time. For breakfast, it is well to pass by the heavier fruits, such as bananas, in favor of the citrus fruits. The latter start their gastric juices, and then the stomach demands the surplus acid from the blood to aid digestion. If you tire of orange juice, try a drink made of equal parts of orange, grapefruit and lime juice. And, of course, nothing has yet superseded their gastric juices, and then the stomach demands the surplus acid from the blood to aid digestion.

One Sunday morning she dressed in haste. She hadn't a minute which she could waste. She'd be late for church. Now the tale begins. She didn't take care with those bonnet pins.

Oh, the wind it howled, and the wind it blew. And away from her head that bonnet flew!

It swirled up straight to select its course.

First brushing the ears of the deacon's horse.

A stranger grabbed for the horse's head.

But stumbled and fractured his own instead.

After the bonnet a small boy ran.

Knocked over a woman, and tripped a man.

The deacon's daughter married the chap.

Who rescued her from the swaying trap.

And she lived to regret it later on.

In all that town there abided none whose life wasn't changed on that dreadful day.

When my old Aunt's bonnet was blown away.

Some were crippled, and some went mad.

Some turned saintly, and some turned bad.

Birth and marriage and death and pain.

Were all swept down in that bonnet's train.

Wives quarreled with husbands! I can't relate.

The endless tricks which were played by fate.

MY AUNT'S BONNET.

They say life's simple, but I don't know.

Who can tell where a word will go.

Or how many hopes will rise and fall.

With the weakest brick in the cellar wall.

Or how many hearts will break and bleed.

As the result of one careless deed?

Why my old Aunt's bonnet caused more dismay.

Than a thousand suns could shine away.

She wore it high through her top-knot pinned.

A perfect kite for a heavy wind.

But the hat would stick though a gale might blow.

If she found the place where the pins should go.

One Sunday morning she dressed in haste.

TRADE MAINTAINED

AT IMPROVED RATE; BIG DIVIDENDS PAID

Credit Stringency Is Quickly

Overcome; Sound Money Conditions Shown.

MERCHANTS GRATIFIED

BY SUMMER BUSINESS

Freight Traffic Is Breaking

Records; New Mark Set in "Gas" Consumption.

New York, June 9 (By the Associated Press).

Most of the measures of industrial and trade activity last week confirmed previous indications that business was being maintained at a fairly high rate.

A temporary credit stringency at the beginning of the month was passed over with scarcely any effect on the financial markets, indicating the fundamental soundness of money conditions.

With June dividend disbursements estimated at more than $300,000,000, a heavy demand for funds hardened rates for a short time, but the return flow quickly restored the situation to its normal state.

Reports from the steel industry remained encouraging. In the face of plans to reduce operating schedules this month, several of the leading companies announced increased production against the summer quarter contracts, and enough new business to indicate a well-sustained demand throughout the summer.

Prices of most steel products were firm, and there were indications that unfilled tonnage at the end of May would show a smaller decline than previously had anticipated.

Summer Business Begins.

Mercantile establishments reported that summer business was opening up at a promising rate, with both mail order and chain store sales showing gains over a year ago.

Warmer weather was considered partly responsible for the improvement in retail trade but the same seasonal influences caused a slackening of activity in wholesale and jobbing centers. Complaints of an uneven flow of orders and narrow profits from textile manufacturers.

Record-breaking consumption of gasoline—more than 1,000,000,000 gallons—in April, combined with substantial surplus in surplus stocks were among the favorable factors in the oil industry which helped to counteract uneasiness over a Federal investigation of advancing prices.

Stocks' Rally Is Called

Part of an Upward Swing

By S. S. FONTAINE.

New York, June 6.—Whether the current rally in stocks which has shown a great deal of vigor during the past week is a solid steel-reinforced speculative structure that will go to higher levels before the end of the summer slide or is merely a minor upsurge in a major downward swing is a question that has divided the street into two camps. The pessimists are the professional speculators and the so-called seasoned operators that may be included in the hard-boiled class. In the other is the quiet public and their strange bedfellows, the bankers, and even among the big commission houses we have divergent opinions.

In my opinion we have entered another constructive period which may surpass all present expectations. This is indicated by the huge volume of freight traffic which promises to make new records in the autumn when the crops are moved, and by the clearing up of foreign debts to the United States within a short time. But we need only consider the great earning power of the American people—between $50,000,000,000 and $60,000,000,000 a year. Much of this wealth must go into securities.

"I would tie up to such high grade stocks as U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Smelting and Refining, and the like, such as New York Central and Atchafalpa. Some of the secondary markets should also give a good account of themselves. I look for an important upward swing in stocks, in anticipation of the business improvement which is in store, and I would buy stocks now."

On the other hand, E. J. Keenan, official forecaster for Hornblower & Weeks, is somewhat less optimistic, though he is not classed among the irreconcilables. He said:

"The first stage of a broad movement of the stock market which has set all the aspects of a bear movement occurred in the interval between the middle of February and the end of March. Stocks declined on the average of about 27 points.

"Experience has shown that any primary movement in the market is usually followed by a counter movement which as a rule retraces from 35 per cent to 50 per cent of the ground lost. This is usually due to the fact that during the decline pessimism becomes excessive and both liquidation and short selling are common.

"Early in April the market showed definite resistance to selling and confidence was again, to a large extent restored. Based on theory, the market was entitled to action at least 10 points and possibly more, regardless of trade developments of an unfavorable nature or other events depressing in character. This recovery was well under way when the English strike occurred and interrupted the movement. However, the market has entirely regained the ground lost as a result of the strike and since the first of April has recovered 37 per cent of the initial decline.

"On theory alone, the market is entering vulnerable territory and traders would do well to bear in mind that, in past markets similar in character to this, once the recovery movement was completed a downward tendency again ensued."

But the great bankers who are sponsoring the current advance foresee a halt in the business recovery caused by the unusual weather, and the rising tendencies of commodities after a protracted decline are furnishing corroborative evidences. But after all the crops will be the final determining factor and it is impossible as yet to gauge their yield or quality, for we are told by the Washington correspondents that the outlook for the principal crops is still uncertain, due to the backward season.

With regard to price relationships, the Department of Agriculture said that among the important crops potatoes alone continued in spectacular position during April. Other cash crops, it went on, "stood at prices which put last year's crop in fairly good exchange position, while cattle and eggs are below par, but improving. The general index of purchasing power of farm products, in terms of nonagricultural commodities, rose 1 point, to 88, during April."

Wheat harvest will be under way within the month in the Southwest and in the Pacific Northwest, said the report. The crop being unusually advanced in the latter territory.

"Forecasts based upon conditions last month," it continued, "suggest a winter wheat crop this year of 540,000,000 bushels, or about 160,000,000 more than last year's. The indicated increase is in hard winter wheat. Notwithstanding that reserves will be low when the new crop comes to market, the increase would seem likely to put wheat prices on substantially an export basis."

But if Congress cannot find a way to help the farmer, the great American producer and consumer, out of his plight, let us hope that Lady Bountiful—Dame Nature—will.

Detroit Edison Sells

$15,000,000 in Bonds

Chicago, June 6 (By A. P.).—The Detroit Edison Co., which supplies electric light and power and steam heat to Detroit, has sold $15,000,000 of 5 per cent gold bonds.

Purchasers are the Harris Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago; Coffin & Burr, Spencer Trask & Co., Bankers Trust Co., New York; Security Trust Co., Detroit, and the First National City, Detroit. The bonds, which are of general and refunding mortgage character, are due June 1, 1956, and are being offered at 101 1/4 and interest, yielding 4.90 per cent.

Wilkins Back in Fairbanks, Alaska, June 5 (By A. P.).—The three-engine monoplane Detroit of the Detroit expedition arrived here tonight from Point Barrow, where it flew May 8 for a flight into the arctic waste. The plane carried Capt. George H. Wilkins, leader; Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, U. S. A., navigator; and Sgt. Charles M. Wislizenus, pilot.

CITY MANAGER PLAN ASKED FOR CAPITAL BY LEAGUE'S ORGAN

Extension of Classified Service to Include All Executive Positions Is Aim.

PERSONNEL AGENCY WOULD BE IMPROVED

Encouragement of Research Investigations Would Be Another Objection.

Adoption of a city manager plan of government for the District and a separate civil service commission are advocated in the program of the Better Government league, outlined in the first number of its organ, "The Public Business," which makes its appearance this month.

The league will strive for the adoption of the city manager plan and the appointment of a qualified city manager, with full administrative responsibility and an adequate salary; the establishment of a separate personnel agency with jurisdiction over positions in the classified service of the District of Columbia, with broad powers in personnel matters and with adequate appropriations. It will seek further for the District the development of scientific classification and compensation plans including all positions in the classified service.

For the Federal service, the objectives of the league are: Extension of classified service to include all positions in the executive branch of the Federal government; save those held by elective officers, department and independent establishment heads and a small number of others.

Centralization of responsibility for personnel administration in one agency with broad powers in personnel matters and adequate appropriations.

Improvement in methods of handling personnel matters, so that the best public and private practices will be observed, both by public personnel agency and officers concerned with personnel.

Development, adoption and proper administration of a duties classification and of a scientific compensation plan based on duties classification, including every position in classified service.

Eliminate Interference.

Elimination of interference of members of the legislative branch of the Federal government in the administration of personnel matters in the executive branch and securing of public access, under reasonable conditions and with proper restrictions, to the personnel records of the civil service commission, the personnel classification board, various departments and independent establishments.

Generally, the league would extend the merit system to the 33,481 States, counties, small cities, park districts and other subdivisions at present without a central personnel agency. It would extend the jurisdiction of State public personnel agencies, where any exist, over services of such small cities, counties and other subdivisions as to approve it by referendum vote.

Encouragement of research investigations designed to improve methods of public personnel administration; systematic preparation of literature intended to interest press, civic agencies, citizens and others in the benefits and extension of the merit system in public service; and cooperation with all agencies and individuals, public or private, interested in improving methods of personnel administration in public service, are other things advocated.

Girls Leave Homes To Avoid Punishment

Leaving a note which simply read: "We are going away," Mary Penton, 16 years old, 4316 Fourteenth street northwest, and Grace Horn, 19 years old, 4604 Fourteenth street northwest, left their homes yesterday. The two are attired in knickerbockers and are students at Central High school.

TOLERANCE URGED IN ANNUAL SERMON TO G. W. U. SENIORS

President Lewis Decries the "Holler-Than-Thou" Attitude Toward Aliens.

GEORGETOWN U. OPENS COMMENT WEEK

Gallaudet, Holy Trinity and Howard University Also Launch Exercises.

Annual Sabbath day baccalaureate services were held in five Washington colleges and universities yesterday, opening the series of graduation exercises and activities to be held this week. George Washington, Georgetown and Howard universities and Gallaudet and Trinity colleges were institutions where services were held.

National and personal tolerance was urged by Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington, speaking at the service of that University in Corcoran hall yesterday afternoon. He questioned the right of America to assume a "holler-than-thou attitude" as to ethics and morals of foreign nations.

Dr. Lewis addressed the largest graduating class in the history of George Washington university—450 men and women. It marked the 10th baccalaureate service of the school.

Dean William Allen Wilbur, of Columbian college, introduced Dr. Lewis and music for the service was furnished by the University Glee club and Fred East, barytone. The invocation and benediction was pronounced by the Rev. U. G. B. Pierce.

Lack of Courage Deplored.

Lack of courageousness on the part of many college men in assuming duties of public leadership was deplored by the Rev. Edward J. Sweeney, S. J., of Brooklyn, in the course of his sermon at the one hundred and twenty-seventh baccalaureate service at Georgetown university yesterday morning. Father Sweeney stressed importance of spiritual as well as mental training for the college man of today. The Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J., president of the university, was celebrant for mass that preceded services. The graduating class of nearly 500 students attended both.

A reception for the graduates was held by Father Lyons following the baccalaureate services. Last night a musical entertainment was held at the Hilltop school in honor of commencement week. Representative William F. Connery, of Massachusetts, a senior law student at the university, contributed with some stunts learned on the stage. Others on the program included George O'Connor and Matt Horn, the college glee club, the Collegians and John Paul Jones.

Exercises at Trinity College.

Solemn pontifical mass was celebrated at Trinity college yesterday morning by the Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate to the United States, and the baccalaureate sermon was preached by the Rev. Thomas V. Moore, O. S. B. The Most Rev. Lewis J. O'Hern, C. S. P., was assistant priest at the high mass celebration and the Rev. William J. Kerby and the Rev. John A. Ryan, S. T. D., were deacons of honor. The deacons of the mass were the Rev. Francis P. Lyons, C. S. P., and the Rev. Benedict Bronsahan, O. S. B.

Degrees will be conferred by the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore, at the graduation exercises tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Michael Williams, editor of the Commonwealth, will deliver the graduation address.

Leadership Keynote of Address.

Leadership was the keynote of the baccalaureate sermon delivered by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church, at the Gallaudet college service yesterday afternoon. The speaker compared the graduates going out into the world to the disciples sent out by Jesus. Dr. Percival Hall, president, translated the sermon on his fingers in the sign language. Eleven graduates will receive degrees tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Dr. J. Stanley Durkee, retiring president of the Howard university, preached the annual baccalaureate sermon yesterday, speaking, as he said, "under impulse of a great emotion" as he realized the occasion was his last opportunity to address the student body prior to undertaking the pastorate of the Plymouth Congregational church of Brooklyn. The invocation was said by the Rev. F. I. A. Bennett and the Scripture read by the Rev. James L. Pinn. The benediction was said by the Rev. C. C. Williams.

NEW CHURCH EDIFICE WILL COST $75,000

Work to Start Soon on the Building for First Brethren Congregation.

Construction of the new building for the First Brethren church on its present site at Twelfth and E streets southeast will start in a few weeks. Final plans for the building have been completed.

The edifice is expected to cost about $75,000. The basement, in which the Sunday school will meet, is expected to be completed about November. It is planned to construct only the first unit at this time. The building, when completed, will be of red brick, with white pillars in front. The auditorium and gallery will have a seating capacity of 600. During operations the congregation will hold services in a building at Eighth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. The Rev. Homer A. Kent is pastor of the church.

CITIZEN COMMITTEE ACTION PROTESTED BY WARNER STUTLER

Special Body Had Refused to Consider Resolution of the Benning Association.

SOUGHT TO IMPROVE METHOD OF ELECTION

Body to File a Complaint at the Next Meeting of the Federation.

Protest against the action of the special committee of the Federation of Citizens associations in refusing to consider the resolution offered by the Benning Citizens association which provided for popular election of the citizens advisory council, was voiced yesterday by Warner Stutler, who introduced the measure.

The Benning association has not criticized the council. Mr. Stutler said, but was endeavoring to improve the method of election in order to make it more representative body. He said the committee would have been more considerate of his measure had it been considered independently and not in conjunction with the abolitionary proposals of the Georgetown and Iowa Circle associations.

Provisions of Resolution.

The resolution provided for an increase in the membership of the council, the election of the advisory council by the associations directly and for the election of the council chairman by the council instead of the ex officio chairmanship of the president of the federation.

His association will enter a protest against the action taken by the federation committee at the next meeting of the federation. Mr. Stutler declared, and he will again present the resolution at the first meeting of the organization in the fall. He claims that a large number of federation delegates are in favor of the proposed measure and will support it if brought before that body. Mr. Stutler said that the measure should have been considered by the law and legislation committee and should not have been given to a special committee.

SOLDIER ARRESTED IN THEFT OF AUTO

Police Say He Gave Information About Car He Is Alleged to Have Taken.

A month ago Alvin R. Sain, 24 years old, a soldier stationed at Fort Humphreys, Va., walked into police headquarters and gave Detective Frank Alligood a bit of information about a stolen automobile. Yesterday he was arrested by Alligood, charged with the theft of the same car about which he informed.

Sain, according to Alligood, said he was walking near Highway bridge in Virginia a month ago, when he was called by a man seated in an automobile, whose actions were suspicious. Coming to Washington he reported to Alligood and the two went to the scene and recovered the car of Lawrence Richardson, stopping at the Oxford hotel.

For the next four weeks, Alligood was busy going out of town rounding up automobile thieves. During that time authorities at Fort Humphreys were trying to locate him. Yesterday he found time to call on the military authorities and found they had Sain in custody. He confessed taking the car about which he gave information. Indentured after the soldier's denial was made through a peculiar shade civilian suit, which the soldier wore when he gave the information.

MAN IS ARRESTED AFTER AUTO CRASH

Auto Chase Leads to Wreck and Seizure of Alleged Liquor.

Arrested after an exciting chase through uptown streets yesterday, Robert L. Rogers, 26 years old, 1627 Columbia road northwest, was charged at the Fourth precinct with leaving after building a reckless driving, colliding, transporting and possession of liquor, and his automobile and 500 quarts of alleged corn whiskey were seized.

Detective Howard E. Ogile, of the Fourth precinct, on his way to the Southwest station became suspicious of the car driven by Rogers, he said, and started in pursuit at Fourteenth and U streets. The two cars sped about the streets in the vicinity, police say, and finally turned back into U street.

Rogers' car, according to police, crashed into the automobile owned by Everett Carroll and parked in front of 1421 U street northwest, damaging both vehicles and demolishing a small tree.

After the excitement, although Ogile denied firing at the car, it was found that four bullet holes were in the rear of the vehicle. Another occupant of the car, according to Ogile, escaped after the crash.

Struck During Fight.

During a fight yesterday at 16 Foxhall road northwest, Charles Burns, 38 years old, of that address, according to police, was struck in the face by John Ricketts, 34 years old, 1024 Thirty-first street northwest. After Burns was treated at Georgetown University hospital, he and his opponent were arrested at the Seventh precinct on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct.

DISCIPLES OF CHRIST TO BUILD $1,000,000 CHURCH IN CAPITAL

Acquire Site for Edifice Facing Thomas Circle, It Is Announced.

SEARCH FOR LOCATION CONDUCTED FOUR YEARS

Vermont Avenue Christian Congregation Is Leading Spirit in Project.

Acquirement of a site on the northwest corner of Massachusetts avenue and Fourteenth street facing Thomas circle for a representative church of the Disciples of Christ was announced following the morning services yesterday at Vermont Avenue Christian church by the Rev. Earle Wilfey, pastor.

A building site committee has been at work on the proposition of a representative church, into which the Vermont Avenue church will merge, for upward of four years. Dr. Wilfey said.

The idea is primarily to establish a church in the National Capital representative of all the churches of the country, he said. Within the last few days the site has been obtained and the first step of assured reality completed.

A collection was taken toward the first cash payment on the site, which will be made this week. The congregation responded generously. A campaign for funds to purchase the site, conducted personally by Dr. Wilfey, has up to the present netted between $65,000 and $70,000.

The site will cost about $345,000. Dr. Wilfey said, and includes six properties on the avenue, comprising a space 252 feet in width by an average of 135 feet in length.

To Hold Meeting.

A meeting will be held in the church Thursday night, at which the congregation will ratify the action taken by the building site committee.

Within the next few months, Dr. Wilfey stated, a national advisory committee representing the entire country will be appointed and called to Washington to begin plans for a national campaign. The total cost of the site and church, it is anticipated, will be about $1,000,000.

The completion of the church is a matter of the future. However, expectations are that it will be realized in less than five years. The idea of a representative church is in line with action of proposed action of many other denominations, with a view to establishing a central church in the Capital.

The services yesterday morning were broadcast over WCAP, as well as the announcement. Members of the building site committee are H. P. Miller, chairman; Green H. Hackworth, Schuyler Shepard, K. A. Brumback and Dr. Wilfey.

Police "Rookie" Bests Six Rowdies in Bout

Policeman R. L. Hollis, a "rookie" of the Sixth precinct, got a taste of action early yesterday morning, and with the exception of a torn coat, a lost badge and nightstick, is none the worse for the experience, having gained a little pistol target practice.

Hollis was attempting to disperse a group of men, who were loitering about Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, when six of them attacked him. A detail of Sixth precinct police and Headquarters Detectives Steve Brodie and Frank Varney were called. They found Hollis in command of the situation. To disperse his humiliators, he was forced to fire four shots into the air.

Woman Cut in Crash.

When the automobile in which she was riding early yesterday crashed into a street car at New Jersey avenue and D street northwest, Elsie Black, colored, 115 F street southwest, was severely cut and was removed to Casualty hospital. Garry Wilson, also colored, driver of the automobile, 1343 Corcoran street northwest, was arrested on a charge of driving while drunk.
